The Editor's column

by S. R. PADDOCK

The high schools will face by 1959 the same problem that the elementary schools face today. By that year the crowded lower elementary classes will reach the high school.

In the Arlington Heights high school area, there has been added or authorized this year 72 new school rooms.

We do not know what recommendation the special citizens committee studying the Arlington Hts. high school situation, will make, but it appears that within the next four years every additional elementary school room must be matched by additional high school facilities.

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, was asked a lot of pertinent questions on the radio program, "Around the City Desk," Sunday night regarding the financial conditions of elementary schools and his suggested remedies.

In his opinion, an increase in sales tax is the only answer, but it appears that the Illinois governor has gone on record that he will do nothing to sell such a plan to the people unless he is forced to do it.

Puffer said that the high birthrate had crowded suburban schools, and had caused an increasing number of school districts to exhaust their bonding power.

Unless there is no other way out, he does not welcome the suggestion that $10,000 portable school houses is the answer. Many such rooms would not be near a main building and its pupils would not have the same health supervision, physical education, etc., that are provided in the orthodox school parts.

The 1954 annuals of Arlington Heights and Palatine high schools came off the press last week. They were produced in the printing plant of Paddock Publications. We are as proud of them as are the student staffs which compiled them.

They are representative of the painstaking work of printers who take pride in the work they do.

We have heard so much at the morning coffee hours the past winter about the impossible condition of North Hickory street, Arlington Heights, that we sent our photographer down there this week.

We really cannot understand why the business interests on that street have not hung somebody by the heels.

We are told that the fault lies with the contractor who has not finished his job. We do not know whether to blame the village board for not placing a fire under the contractor; the engineers who withheld only $1200 from the contractor to get the road back in shape, or the business men on that street who are afraid to do something about it.

The editor hopes that the street will be repaired so that he can drink his morning coffee in peace.

Special assessment machinery sometimes moves terribly slow. It has taken 12 months to get the Campbell street widening ready for court approval. Nobody appears to have had heart failure since the assessment notices were mailed.

There is a sizeable public benefit and a mercury street lighting project that will cost the property owners nothing.

Serious objections on the part of property owners could delay the project and might bring about the elimination of the mercury rights. The delay of a year has jumped the proposed assessment abouf $2 a lineal foot. Shall we wait another year to further boost the costs?

Col. McCormick, publisher of a certain Chicago newspaper, would deny that he has ever been jealous of any country newspaper, but that does not apply to some of the fellows who work for him.

Several times during the past years we have advised employees of that paper how to buy a country weekly. Until last week none of them ever dared to gamble that much.

Philip Maxwell of said daily paper and of Chicago's Music Festival fame, is adding another star to his name. He is publisher of the Naperville Clarion, one of the oldest newspapers in the state.

Of course we wish him luck. We know he will succeed. A man who dares to enter the independent newspaper field has our admiration.

We admire a man who trusts the Lord to provide him with the necessities of life. We admire more a village board which trusts that there will be enough cash to pay the bills of the municipality.

Thus, we especially admire the Village of Mt. Prospect, which is about to let a contract for a new well and is so confident that its cost will be forthcoming that it is not included in the budget it passed last week.

Now if the well contractor is as trusting, nobody need worry about anything.

We doubly admire a municipality that engages in such big business that it has a yearly budget of $300,000. Mt. Prospect is now in the big city class

North Hickory Street property owners are paying the bill for installation of sewer and water, but think they are being short-changed because the contractor did not finish the job.

A staff photographer did not risk the springs of his car when he took this picture on N. Hickory st. Property owners say that appeals to the village board for relief got them nowhere although they have been assessed for the improvement that started all these chuck holes.

Start 'Sidor Fund' To Help Rebuild Home Razed By Fire

Nearly 20 men from the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church, Arlington Heights, worked Sunday at the George Sidor home, Belmont and Avon ave., Elk Grove, to clear away the debris from the recent fire which destroyed the Sidor home.

This is just one of many offers of help that have come to the family of five who were left homeless May 24. Neighbors gathered clothing and money to aid the family and they are now living in a trailer supplied by the Lehman Trailer Sales, where they will remain until their home is rebuilt.

A GEORGE SIDOR building fund has been started and the fund committee, headed by Nelson Hauff as chairman, has hopes of getting enough material to rebuild the side walls and get the house under roof so the family can return to their home. Lumber and other building materials are needed, as are volunteers to help with the rebuilding.

Contributions may be left at the Parkway Liquor Store, 27 E. Davis, or anyone interested in making a donation may call Hauff or Ray Voelker, CLearbrook 3-0048, who will see the contribution is picked up. Father O'Hara at the Wayside Catholic church, CLearbrook 3-5353, will also receive contributions for the family.

Voelker has offered to do the wiring when the house is rebuilt and a new well pump has been donated by Peter Pilgard. The Hines Lumber Company of Mount Prospect has contributed a light pole.

Much of the rubble is now stacked to one side and the foundation has been cleared to make way for the rebuilding.

Heights Wall and Floor Coverings Store To Hold Grand Opening Sale

A ten per cent discount will be given on all over the counter sales, which include such items as floor coverings, wall tile, adhesives, waxes, metals, bath fixtures, venetian blinds, tub enclosures, cleaners and shades.

Free gifts will be given to patrons, including a Regina Polisher, which will be awarded to some lucky visitor.

Arlington Asks Curb On Mt. Prospect Industry

Mount Prospect needs light industry to help reduce its high tax rate, and the tract between the railroad and W. Central rd. is best fitted for this development, Sol DiMucci told the Mount Prospect zoning commission last Friday night in support of his petition to have the 136 acres rezoned from residential to light industrial use.

Two residents of the adjoining Pick's subdivision protested, and as a courtesy the commission listened to the opinions of the Arlington Heights village attorney and of residents of Scarsdale.

A school board member reminded the commission the grade school district has reached its legal tax rate and has practically exhausted its bonding power for new buildings, and it is the thinking of the board of education that light industry will help solve the school's financial problems.

Most of the discussion centered around the ultimate development of the property, and Eugene Martin, chairman of the commission, said that was outside the scope of his board and would be up to the village board, the plan commission, and the building committee to determine whether applicants were suitable.

DiMUCCI TOLD the commission he would handle the development himself, with perhaps some assistance from brokers. His plans are to have 35% of a tract under roof, 40% landscaped, and the balance for parking area.

Individual tracts would be not less than 15 acres, and he said the Meyercord company of Chicago is interested in a 30 acre plot.

Hugo Thal, attorney for the village of Arlington Heights, suggested Mount Prospect might do well to consider restrictions at the time of rezoning, to prevent individual problems arising later, such as a general restriction specifically eliminating certain industries even though they might be considered light if from their nature they may be harmful.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS people were given permission to submit their suggestions in writing for consideration of the zoning commission and the village trustees, and the matter was taken under advisement by the commission.

No objections were raised to two other petitions before the commission for public hearing. The first involved the property immediately north of Van Driel's drug store on Emerson st., where the owners contemplate building stores with apartments above.

The other was the Fleetwood Homes property on E. Northwest hwy. The owners plan to put a store front on the present house, and perhaps build a store on the next two lots east.

Select Lattof To Head Steering Committee Studying Arlington High School Needs

Immediate action was taken at their first meeting June 3 by the lay committee invited to study Arlington Heights high school problems.

After hearing talks on the merits of such a committee, a nine member steering committee was elected. This smaller group in turn elected Nicholas Lattof its chairman. Other members are: William Hartman, Mrs. Harriet Chambers, Mrs. Mabel Laubenheimer, J. W. Staples, Darwin Blix, George Hoban, Mrs. Franklin Landmeier, and John Sicks.

The steering committee met last night to appoint sub-committees to gather specific data and study different phases. These subcommittees will report their findings and recommendations to the steering committee, which in turn will pass the information back to the entire lay committee.

IN HIS OPENING remarks, George Sheppard of the high school board pointed out this lay committee is acting in an advisory capacity to the board of education. He asked that their conclusions and final recommendations be forthcoming at the earliest possible date, but not with such haste as to prevent exhaustive study, and assured them their proposals would be given thorough consideration.

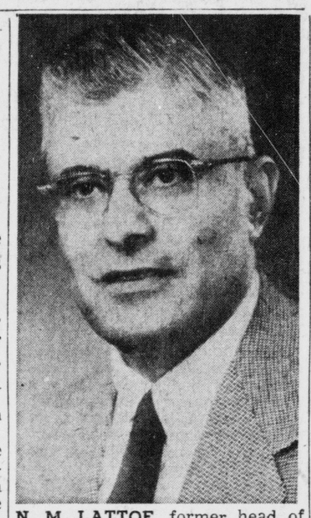

Both Sheppard and Dr. George A. Beauchamp, associate professor of education at Northwestern university, warned that pressure will be brought to bear on the committee members.

"You will probably be the most gossiped and talked about group of people in this community," Dr. Beauchamp said. "Base your study on intelligence rather than emotions. The board of education is your legally constituted body to whom you have delegated all responsibility for what goes on in this school. You have no right to take that responsibility away from them. You work cooperatively together without crossing over into each other's lines. In that way you recognize the real spirit of democratic action."

DR. BEAUCHAMP told the committee there are many committees similarly organized on local, state and national levels. He recommended members should read a recently published book entitled "Citizen Cooperation for Public Schools" to realize the scope of their duties. The problems of education, he said, belong to all people who have anything to do with that institution.

A unique characteristic of education in the United States, he said, is that it serves the state and the family both. There is a partnership between the school, which is the agency of the state, and the family, which in turn makes up the state.

All Schools Located Within Arlington High School District

The ten elementary schools whose graduates attend the Arlington Heights high school, will have a total of 72 additional classrooms for school opening next September.

While 22 of these rooms are being provided by three Catholic congregations within the village of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect there are 50 additional schoolrooms being added to seven public elementary school plants.

The heads of these schools told Paddock Publications this week that the additions would serve only as a stopgap in school facilities for the individual school areas. While the number of new school rooms being added may be surprising to the average resident within the Arlington Heights township high school district, it is no surprise to Superintendent LeRoy Knoeppel of Arlington Heights high school.

"THE ENROLLMENT problem that the high school will face in 1959 and 1960 is no idle threat," says President Elmer Laurin of the high school board.

The additions for new buildings to the respective elementary school areas are as follows:

Four Dead, Five Injured In Area Accidents

Judith Katkus, 12, of 2507 W. Campbell, Rolling Meadows Arlington Heights, escaped serious injury when she jumped from a Chicago and North Western train in Des Plaines Monday morning.

Judith was enroute to school at St. Marys in Des Plaines when she discovered she had taken a train that didn't stop at the station. Rather than be late for school she jumped off the train, which was traveling between 25 and 35 miles an hour.

She was taken to Resurrection hospital, where it was found she suffered a few bruises and a possible fracture of the elbow. She was later released.

PEDRO GARCIA, 22, of Arlington Heights was killed Saturday in an accident on Milwaukee ave. and Deerfield rd., when the car he was riding in collided with another. Two persons in the other car, Ralph and Arnold Compton, were also killed in the accident. The Compton auto was driven by another brother, Eugene.

Juan Ros Ynocenci, Des Plaines, driver of the other car, and Theodore Kaptain, another passenger in the Compton car, and Eugene Compton were all taken to Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville, with injuries.

Witnesses told Deputy Sheriffs Edmund Van Dien and Thomas Cusker that Ynocenci's auto was traveling south at an estimated 90 miles an hour. They said the car sideswiped a southbound car and a northbound car before it struck Compton's head on. The deputies said Ynocenci and Garcia, farm workers, had been drinking before the collision.

JAMES MOORE, 8, of 104 McDonald rd. Prospect Heights died Saturday as a result of injuries received when his bicycle collided with a light truck at McDonald rd. and Rte. 83. The lad, a third grade student at St. James Catholic school in Arlington Heights, was taken to St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, where he died.

Albert J. Scott, 21, of Central rd. Arlington Heights, told county highway police he was driving on Rte. 83 when the boy's bicycle, traveling on McDonald rd., ran into the side of his truck.

James was the son of Mr and Mrs. James Moore. Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, Richard, 7, and Clayton, 3, and a sister Diane, 6. Private services were held Monday morning in Elgin, and a special mass was said at St. James Catholic church, with Rev. Robert Reicher officiating. Interment was in St. Mary cemetery, Buffalo Grove.

LESTER TAYLOR, 17, of 1212 Baldwin rd., Palatine was blamed by State police for the accident involving the police car June 4 and injuring State Officer Robert Stefanski.

Stefanski was taken to Sherman hospital, Elgin, where he was treated for several broken ribs. He was released Tuesday. Officer Matthew J. Sopchyk, who was riding with Stefanski, was uninjured.

The police car was passing Taylor's car on Dundee rd., west of Quintens rd., when suddenly the latter made a left hand turn into the side of the police car. Officer Stefanski took to the ditch in order to avoid a more serious accident. The state car demolished a row of mail boxes and turned over. Taylor was charged with failure to signal and will appear before Judge Carl Behrens in Arlington Heights Thursday.

Taylor, who has no insurance, told the police he did not see their car in his rear view mirror.

Board May Select Village Manager Next Tuesday

Arlington Heights village board may select next Tuesday night the man who will take over the position of village manager.

The mayor's committee, after many weeks of intensive work in studying applications and the qualifications of applicants who appeared to be the best suited to the position, have selected three which they have recommended to the village board as being qualified for the opsition.

THE MAYOR'S committee were men experienced in personnel work. They followed the same procedure as did the committee in Evanston, adopting rules for the judging of the applicants.

Originally there were 80 applications. Formal application blanks with a questionnaire of six pages, were sent to 27 of them. In order that there might be no misunderstanding on conditions of the position, each of them were sent copies of the 1953-54 budget, copy of the ordinance establishing the job, the vote on that ordinance, list of industries and other pertinent information about the village.

After considering the applications of the men who had been involved to apply for the position, the committee selected the three most outstanding. Their names were turned over to the village trustees. These three are experienced managers and are now residing in the central part of the United States.

ALL THREE will have been personally screened this week end. The majority of the village board members wil have had the opportunity to meet these men personally and are expected to be in a position to make a wise choice next Tuesday evening.

The memebrs of the mayor's committee which did such an excellent job are: J. Warren White Jr., Belleweave Rug Company, 1519 Oakton; Walter F. Hagestad, Pure Oil, 629 N. Belmont; Tom H. Hildebrand, International Harvester, 527 Mayfair.

These men did not depend alone upon submitted qualifications of the applicants. Through regular business channels they contacted businessmen in their respective communities.

Businessmen OK Chief's Plan For 2-Way Streets

"As soon as we can get the parking stalls painted and new parking signs installed the two-way street system will go into effect," said Chief of Police Carl H. Skoog of Arlington Heights.

Last week the village board turned the entire problem over to Chief Skoog to work out a system of traffic flow which would satisfy the businessmen who objected to one-way streets. A map has been drawn and submitted to the businessmen who approved the Chief's suggestions.

Vail ave., from Campbell to Sigwalt, will remain one-way north, and Highland ave., from Campbell to Sigwalt, will remain one-way south. However, one-hour parallel parking will be installed on the east side of both these streets, which heretofore had no parking

ALL OTHER streets will be two-way. The entire length of Davis street will have parallel parking on both sides, with one-hour restrictions, except for two stalls on the north side of the bank, which will be limited to 15 minutes. Campbell street will have a combination of diagonal and parallel parking, with all parking west of Vail and east of Evergreen restricted to parallel. The north side of Campbell, between Vail and Dunton, will continue to have diagonal parking, since the curb line is too high for parallel. Diagonal parking along the south side of Campbell, between Dunton and Davis will also be continued, with parallel parking in effect from Davis to Evergreen. The south side of Campbell, between Vail and Dunton will continue to have parallel parking. No parking will be permitted on the south side of the bank.

Vail ave., between Campbell and Davis, will have paralled parking on both sides of the street. Diagonal parking will be permitted on Dunton ave., between Davis and Sigwalt, with the exception of the east side of the street, between Davis and Campbell, and from Campbell to the Jewel aprking lot, which will be restricted to parallel parking. A few additional parking spaces will be gained on State rd., between Davis and Sigwalt, where parallel stalls will be marked and one hour parking limits set. Heretofore commuter parking was allowed along the west side of State rd. Evergreen ave. will have diagonal parking along the east side of the street from Davis to where the street narrows, near Sigwalt, and parallel parking will be in effect on the west side of the street, and on the east side, from Davis to the railroad tracks.

FOUR WAY stops will remain at Dunton and Campbell and Evergreen and Davis, and Vail ave. traffic will still stop for Campbell. Chief Skoog says for the present no restrictions will be put on left turns, but if it later deems necessary to enforce no left turns to keep traffic from becoming congested, they will use that method.

The street deaprtment began painting the new stalls Wednesday, as well as installing new one-hour parking signs. Chief Skoog believes the new system should be ready to go into effect within a week.

Saturday the annual school outing will be held at the Tagge farm. Transportation will be furnished for the children who have no way to get there. They should meet at the school by 10:30 a.m.

Nine More Inducted Into Army Friday

Uncle Sam called nine more men from this area into the army last week. They reported to Local Board 101, Selective Service System, Des Plaines, last Friday.

Two of the men, Stefan V. Valogh and William Frank Revers, were from Arlington Heights. Others inducted included: Norman David Mielke, Des Plaines, formerly of Wheeling; Robert Edwin Meyer, Palatine; Arnold Herman Gehrke and Leonard Wayne Rascher, both of Roselle; Vernon Lee Boehning, Elgin; William D. Thomas, Barrington, and Wayne Mitchell Campbell, Mount Prospect.

5,000 Acre Drainage District Dwindles As Municipalities Take Over

President Lams of Mount Prospect is expected to soon call a conference of representatives of the city of Des Plaines, villages of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, Chicago Sanitary District, Benjamin Electric Co., and two railroads in an effort to find the answer to a problem that was simple 25 years ago, but is now very much complicated.

The Weller Creek Drainage District was originally laid out to serve 5,000 acres. The annual maintenance cost was supposed to be 45 cents an acre or 30 cents a village lot.

It does not take an accountant to figure out why there is no money with which to do anything. There is also $100,000 in outstanding bonds, which must be taken into consideration on any settlement arrangement.

As Mount Prospect grew, there were eleven subdistricts formed to provide drainage for those areas. The tiles of yesterday are entirely inadequate today.

The annexation to the Chicago Sanitary District did not solve what many Mount Prospect householders expected. Four hundred eight basements were more or less flooded by the recent storm.

Th sewer disposal system and the removal of obstructions created by the railroads and the highways with bigger and relocated flumes, appear to be the answer. A new system would depend upon the willingness of the Mount Prospect people to foot a large special assessment bill which is estimated at several million dollars.

'It Won't Be Long Now,' Says Soo Line Official

J. R. Allen Jr., 139 S. Forest, Palatine, is asking why the crossing protection promised nearly six months ago by the Soo Line at Palatine, Wolf, and MacDonald rds. had not been installed.

Upon inquiry of the chief engineer at Minneapolis, Paddock Publications learned that the final piece of red tape was unraveled May 10; that the material for the work has been ordered and as soon as it is received, the signals will be installed.

The county highway department recently received a letter from the chief engineer thanking the department for the promptness it had taken in completing the necessary "paper work."

Mr. Allen is hoping that the actual work will be completed before another fatality occurs. An entire family was wiped out at this crossing last fall.

Chicago Homemakers are talking about . . Jewel's Low Prices

Did you know while Chicago homemakers hang out the family wash these days they take time out to talk about the low prices at Jewel? . . . and they're talking about Jewel at the morning coffee "klatsch". Jewel pops up at afternoon club-time, too!

Want to know more about what they're saying?

For the past month or more Jewel ads have featured low prices. We seldom talk about prices because we feel that price alone is not worth shouting about. There are other important things like friendly Jewel people . . . Jewel's Extra Value Trim meats . . . stores that are always clean and white . . . and the Jewel guarantee . . . but we wanted to remind Jewel customers that in addition to all these extras Jewel prices are still well within your food budget. The foods you see in this ad are another example of the low prices you find everyday at your Jewel.

TAKE heart, good friend—you can buy a hit-of-the-year Buick if you can afford any new car.

And we proudly show our price here to prove it.

For this price is the delivered price—the local delivered price—of the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan—and it's just a few dollars away from those of the so-called "low-price three"—lower, in fact, than even some models of those very same cars.

But look what this Buick price gets you!

It gets you the very look of tomorrow in styling modernity, even to the spectacular new panoramic windshield that seems to outdate everything before it.

It gets you Buick V8 power—highest in SPECIAL history—plus the economy of new Power-Head Pistons.

It gets you Buick room, Buick luxury, Buick size and structure and solidity—including of course, the famed Million Dollar Ride and a new precision in handling ease.

It gets you, too, solid and deep-down value.

For any way you look at it, you're money ahead with the car that's years-ahead now in looks and line and the lift of its power—and the car that's outselling every other car in America except two of the "low-price three."

Drop in today or the first thing tomorrow—just to try and to drive and to compare a new Buick. We'll let the car prove its points.

Symphony Plans Pop Concert For June 20

A "Pop Concert" program will be the order of the day at the Northwest Symphony Orchestra concert June 20 at 3:30 p.m. in Maine township high school auditorium.

Featured on the program for the "young at heart" of all ages will be Prokofieff's musical fairy tale, "Peter and the Wolf." Rev. John B. Hubbard, popular rector of St. Mary's church of Park Ridge, will narrate the story while the orchestra provides the musical background and various instruments play the parts of the story's characters.

Father Hubbard has been rector of the Park Ridge church since 1931 and is a native of the Chicago area, being born and raised in Winnetka.

The symphonic numbers selected for the program by Perry Crafton, conductor, contain melodies familiar in practically every household: Von Suppe's Overture to "The Beautiful Galathea," Franz Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," and the third movement of Tschaikowski's "Pathetique" Symphony. The lilting rhythms of Sinigaglia's "Piedmontese Dances" and Johann Strauss' "Emperor Waltzes" are also included.

Individual admission will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for children who are over 12, and free for children 12 or under when accompanied by an adult.

Tickets may be secured from any playing member of the orchestra or at the door.

Plan Extensive YMCA Program To Keep Kiddies Busy This Summer

Mom, dad, brother and sister—the Northwest Suburban YMCA has the answer to summer problems of keeping the youngsters entertained.

Boys and girls from 7 to 12 years of age will have camp adventure to look forward to. This is a day camp program, of six weeks duration, divided into three periods of two weeks each. This camp adventure will be held four days a week—Tuesdays through Fridays, starting July 6. All of the thrills and activities of resident camping, but home every night. The youngsters will travel by chartered bus to Deer Grove, and there they will be led in recreational activities by a thoroughly trained, competent staff of leaders. If it rains while at Camp, a shelter is available, and if it rains before leaving, a trip to a museum, manufacturing plant, or roller skating will be planned. Outdoor activities of every nature will apepal to every boy and girl, such as fishing, cooking, crafts and nature study.

In addition to the day camp, on Mondays youngsters will be able to avail themselves of "Trips About Town," visiting such spots as Proctor & Gamble, Bowman Dairy, Tribune newspaper, Haeger Pottery, Chicago Historical Society, Lincoln Park zoo, Hawthorn Mellody Farms, and a boat ride along the lake shore.

Craft classes will be conducted at West and South school playgrounds in Des Plaines.

There will also be three trips to the Cubs ball park under the direction of our staff members, traveling on chartered bus to beautiful Wrigley Field.

Then there is softball and baseball—come out and play for fun—develop skill and sportsmanship. Softball instructions and play will be held at West and South school playgrounds in Des Plaines and Owen Street Park in Mount Prospect.

One can become proficient at baseball under the able guidance of one of the leaders at Lions Park in Mount Prospect or by contacting the "Y" office in Des Plaines. Baseball is for boys 10-14 years of age. This is the opportunity to play ball for enjoyment under the coaching of a trained staff.

Further information can be secured for all programs at the headquarters office, 1488 Miner st., Des Plaines, or by calling VAnderbilt 4-4156.

U.S. Jaycee Convention Begins June 14 in Colorado Springs

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, special Philippine ambassador to the U.S., will address 10,000 delegates at the 34th annual week-long U.S. Jaycee convention which begins in Colorado Springs June 14, it was announced today.

The wartime guerilla leader, Pulitzer prize winning writer, editor, and diplomat, will speak at Penrose Stadium in Colorado Springs Wednesday, June 16, according to Ted C. Seiler, president of the Arlington Heights Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is expected to make a major pronouncement in regard to the present Indochina crises.

SEILER SAID a large number of delegates from all the U.S., Hawaii, Alaska, Mexico, and Canada will don special costumes varying from the colorful regalia of Mexican mariachas (musicians) to rugged frontier apparel, complete with beards, and will arrive in special caravan fleets of all types from Model A Fords to Cadillacs.

Each state in boosting its products and attractions will attempt to out-do the other with exhibits from bathing beauties to crocodiles.

Colorado Springs Jaycees and local merchants have spent nearly two years in preparing their end of the convention.

In the Nights of the Old West party, a completely reconstructed ghost town, with false fronts, board walks, swinging doors, and operating honky tonks, will come into being with all the vivid life of the early gold mining camps.

Among other attractions, Seiler said, will be a chuck wagon dinner served in the famed "Garden of the Gods," street dances, and a six-mile long parade during which each state will compete for the best float award.

EVEN WITH all the convention play, such serious matters as resolutions pertaining to Indochina and tariffs, and election of a national Jaycee president and vice presidents will be the actual highlights of the convention; with forums and clinics being held on leadership training, international relations, safety, trade promotion, internal affairs, city beautification, fire prevention, religion, Americanism, public health, and other Jaycee programs.

Seiler said that he greatly regrets no members of the local Jaycee chapter are able to attend the convention. However, the Arlington Heights Jaycees have put forth much active effort in the support of John M. King, Illinois State Jaycee president, in his candidacy for National Vice-President. King is also a representative in the Illinois legislature.

TV NEWS

By Don Hager

Television plays such a big part in our lives that it's just good sense to give a lot of thought to the choice of the set for your home. But the antenna plays a big part in the "life" of your set . . . so it's also important to give the choice and location of the antenna some serious thought.

It's the antenna which catches the TV signals (both video and audio impulses) from the transmitting station. It causes electricity to flow to your receiver by means of the lead-in wire, and the set separates the right signals and makes them stronger. The antenna not only has the vital job of intercepting the right signals, but it must also screen out the wrong signals which fill the air all around us.

There are many kinds of antennas (conical, folded dipole, "double diamond" and "yagi" types, to name a few), and sometimes the choice is determined by reception conditions in your area. But even after the antenna is chosen, the job isn't done yet. The place of that antenna (height, location on roof, etc.) will often mean the difference between good reception and just ordinary or even poor reception.

A.) Helping you choose the right antenna for the best possible reception is just part of our installation service. Our technicians have the experience to solve installation problems in this area . . . so see us for the perfect combination of a quality set and the finest installation.

B.) When you need antenna service, for a new installation or for improved reception with your present set and antenna, call on our factory trained technicians. We have the complete experience with antenna service, and the latest in testing equipment, to serve you better at DON HAGER'S TV & APPLIANCE, 11 W. Davis St., Arlington Heights, Ill. Public Interest Makes Possible Annual Patrol Boys Trip to Cubs Park

Police chief Skoog and the entire department appreciate the interest shown by various organizations and the few individuals in the annual patrol boys trip to Cubs Park.

This year's trip required additional funds because the Cub management required that every person attending purchase a ticket. Thus, it was necessary that contributions to the fund be greater than usual.

There were 175 boys who boarded the bus Tuesday for the trip to Wrigley Field. Each boy was not only furnished with an admission ticket, but also 50 cents to spend. The park required that there be an adult for each ten boys in attendance. With adult tickets $1.25 and boys' tickets at 60 cents, the additional cost this year amounted to $125. This amount was easily raised, the following participating in the fund:

Sgt. O. E. Johnson	$ 5.00
Chief Carl H. Skoog	25.00
Lions Club	100.00
Chamber of Commerce	25.00
Cornell Paperboard Products Co.	20.00
Arlington-Prospect Kiwanis Club	25.00
Arl. Hts. Liq. Dealers Assn.	25.00
Judge William F. Neumann	10.00
Grigsby-Allison Co.	25.00
Arlington Heights Natl. Bank	25.00
Eddie Jensen	5.00
John Duthorn	5.00

Four buses were needed to transport the youngsters, which cost $60, plus $10 for parking.

This annual baseball trip to Chicago is a big incentive for the patrol boys to do their job. Many of them are also on Little League teams and this trip adds to their interest in the sport.

Many Jobs Open

Students graduating from college next month will find job opportunities moderately good in most fields, excellent in engineering and other scientific fields.

Northwest Home Owners Appoint Committees

The Northwest Home Owners League, Mount Prospect, in its regular meeting June 3, laid long range plans for functioning as a community improvement association. An operating year of September to September was decided upon, with present officers to serve until a new slate is elected next September.

Operating committees and committee assignments were worked out, subject to formal incorporation into by-laws. Among such committees is a Public Works committee, to be staffed by members who are experienced engineers, a Council committee, who will monitor all village board meetings and keep the membership informed of developments affecting them, and a social committee.

Because of a conflict with meeting nights of the PTA, an overwhelming majority voted for a change in regular meeting nights to the second Thursday in each month, rather than the first, such meeting night to be adopted in July. Meetings are at Central school, at 8 p.m.

Charles W. Houchins, president, said "The tremendous turnout at this first general meeting is proof positive of the interest in and need for a community association in our area. By coordinating our individual efforts we can become an informed and responsible body—and a strong force for good in the community."

Most June graduates will discover they must job-hunt harder and longer than their predecessors.

Legion Presents 28 Flags To Brownie, Girl Scout Troops

Merle Guild Post 208, American Legion, presented American flags to 16 Brownie troops and 12 Intermediate Girl Scout troops in a special ceremony at Arlington Heights high school gym Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Robinson, the local area chairman, took charge of the program, which started with the posting of the colors by the Legion color guard, consisting of Arthur Nelsen, Bill Grob, Bill Gish, Alex Schanmier and commanded by George Jorgensen.

FOLLOWING THE singing of the National Anthem, representatives of each troop formed a parade of flags. The welcome was given by Mrs. David A. Zimmerman.

Legion Commander Donald Giese presented an American flag to Brownie Susan Low, Intermediate Scout Darlene Yanke and Senior Girl Scout, Natalie Glover, who in turn accepted the flags for all the troops.

A choral reading by Senior troop 95 followed, in which the songs were by girls of troops 4 and 7, and the stars being Brownies of troop 260. Taps were played by Cindy Tice, followed by the retirement of the colors by the Legion color guard.

If you would be on the mountain, you must consent to pass over the road to it.

Favorites For Flavor

A very special dessert made from an authentic German recipe is our feature of the week.

It is being shared with us by an excellent cook, Mrs. Fred W. Parbs, who has a wealth of wonderful German recipes.

This one, German Nusstorte or Nut Torte, is a favorite of hers. Made in a spring-form pan, it lists a half dozen eggs, sugar and ground filberts as ingredients, with vanilla and pulverized coffee as flavoring. Note that no flour is used.

The torte is similar to a rich cake, is very light in texture, and has a delicious nutty flavor. When served, it is cut into slices, topped with whipped cream and garnished with cherries.

A dessert of distinction, this unique, delectable Nusstorte is certain to acquire a permanent position in recipe repertoire.

Mr. and Mrs. Parbs came to the United States from Germany in 1939. They live at 1020 N. Ridge in Arlington Heights and have a 10-year-old daughter, Marion, who is in fourth grade at the North school.

Mrs. Parbs' hobby is music, and she also teaches piano at her home. She is a member of HN chapter of PEO.

German Nusstorte (Nut Torte)

6 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon pulverized coffee (instant coffee)
2 cups filberts, ground fine

Beat egg yolks until creamy. Add sugar, vanilla and pulverized coffee. Add one tablespoon of unbeaten egg white. Fold in ground nuts.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into yolk mixture.

Bake in greased spring-form pan in 350 degree oven 40 to 50 minutes or until done.

When served, cut into slices, top with whipped cream and garnish with maraschino cherries.

Graduating

Blake Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vaughan, 2200 South st., has finished his grammar school training. Blake graduated from Palatine grade school, District 15, June 2.

Married

Miss Mary Cooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Cooney of 2501 Campbell st., was married to James Pick of Chicago Saturday. The wedding was a double ring ceremony celebrated at Resurrection church in Chicago at the 10:30 a.m. mass. A wedding breakfast was held at Klausen restaurant after the ceremony. The full day's activities were climaxed by a reception in the evening for 250 guests. The happy couple are spending a two week honeymoon in New York.

School Party

Due to the "slight dew" which fell last week, the first grade of the Rolling Meadows grammar school had to cancel their termend picnic. In place of the picnic the children held a party in the school June 2. Each one of the 21 first graders brought some "party food" from home for the afternoon's celebration under the guidance of their teacher, Mrs. Csanadi.

Boy Scouts

The Panther Patrol (made up entirely of Rolling Meadows boys) of Palatine Troop 69, participated in the Troop picnic in Palatine Park Sunday. The broad jump contest for the fathers must have been the popular feature of the picnic—at least judging from the aches and groans emitted by a few of the fathers!

Glen Loveless, Sigwalt st., and Peter Keller, Wilke rd., are attending Scout Leader training courses to prepare themselves for work as troop committeemen. It's really stimulating to hear of so many people taking an active interest in the young people from Rolling Meadows—a trend that should be encouraged by the interest of everyone and the further participation of those who are able to devote their time to this worth-while activity.

Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. John Macior, 2906 Dove st., celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary June 9. John is an active worker in the community, and never seems to shirk any task given to him. The Maciors will really have good cause to celebrate this anniversary since Mrs. Macior recently returned home after a siege in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Splichal, 2609 Wilke rd., celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary Monday. The celebration was really a double one since it was Mr. Splichal's birthday as well. Helping the couple celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. James Kincl of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Al Splichal of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmanck and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ryber of Rolling Meadows.

A yearly tradition, which was begun when they were married, will climax the wedding anniversary observance of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cullen, 2309 Sigwalt st. Jack and Darlene held their wedding reception at the country club to which Mrs. Clidden's parents belong. Every year since that time they have returned there for an anniversary dinner in the company of one of her parents. This Thursday the Cullens will again celebrate their anniversary in the company of Mrs. Cullen's mother—while her father gives a sideline assist to the party by baby sitting with the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Piekarski, 2810 Dove st., are celebrating their fourth anniversary Thursday. Al, who is the Commander of the Elmwood Park American Legion Post 686, has been so busy this week with award ceremonies for the various graduating classes in Elmwood Park he has barely had time to celebrate his own important "ceremony" which took place four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. William Paulsen, 2302 Sigwalt, are holding two celebrations this week. They are observing their wedding anniversary Saturday, and the first birthday of their daughter, Carol, which was June 9. Carol probably won't be as impressed or remember her birthday celebration, however, half as well as her sister, Diane, who celebrated her fourth birthday May 9 with her first real "party."

Community Church

The ladies of the Rolling Meadows Community church are holding a welcoming reception for the new minister, Rev. Ringsmuth of Hyannis, Mass., this Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. The reception will be held in the Recreation Building of the Rolling Meadows grammar school. Punch, cookies, doughnuts, and other refreshments will be served by the ladies of the church. Arrangements for the reception have been under the direction of Mrs. Lois Hvid of 2605 Oriole Lane, and a great deal of credit must go to her and the other ladies for their hard work in planning the reception. The church has extended an invitation to everyone interested to attend the reception for Rev. Ringsmuth, who will, himself, be a Rolling Meadows resident. Let's give Rev. Ringsmuth a real welcome by attending the reception if at all possible—and bring the children along if you wish. Rev. Ringsmuth will speak June 13 in the school building on Campbell st.

Vacationing

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meyer, 2502 Sigwalt st., have just returned from an outstanding Florida trip. The Meyers won an all-expense trip to Miami in a contest sponsored by the various local Ford dealers. Bob had the most nearly correct answer to the contest question, "How many parts are in a Ford motor?" The Meyers stayed at the Monte Carlo hotel during their Miami vacation and really "did" the town. They visited the Hialeah Race Track, the Indian Village and watched the Indian-alligator wrestling matches. The beautiful tan which both Mr. and Mrs. Meyer are wearing these days is living proof to the success of their trip .

Miss Shirley Burlette has just returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Burlette, 2300 South st., after a two month vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Shipler of Sedalia, Mo. Traveling and visiting are a wonderful treat, according to Shirley but it is nice to be home with her family again. Shirley's return was made even more enjoyable by being offered her old job again. It's a little difficult, however, for those young people who are in the "just beyond" high school age to meet new friends when they move to a new development like Rolling Meadows. Shirley would like to hear from some other young people in the area who are interested in planning some activities for this particular age group. Her telephone number is Clearbrook 3-8369.

VFW Auxiliary

June 2 the Women's Auxiliary of the Arlington Heights VFW Post initiated several new members. In Rolling Meadows the Wilke rd. women seem to have had an "exclusive" on the new membership. Mrs. Grace Martin, Mrs. Arlene Pina, Mrs. Shirley Adducci and Mrs. Julia Reynolds, all of Wilke rd., were welcomed into the organization.

Out-Of-Town Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. George Kitterman of South st. have been entertaining an old friend, Ralph Hanford, whom they had not seen for years. Mr. Hanford moved to Lakeland, Florida, several years ago and this is his first trip back up north. Mr. Hanford is eagerly looking forward to his return to Florida since he thinks our June weather is too cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Traub of Dove st. have had their niece, Kathy, as a house guest for several days. Perhaps "guest" is the wrong word to use since Kathy is quite a grown-up young lady and has helped Billie Traub with her various housekeeping and child raising duties while she was in Rolling Meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Keller of Wilke rd., were visited last week by his brother and his family, Major and Mrs. Joseph Keller and their son, Stephen. Major Keller, who is presently stationed with the U.S. Marine Corps in Quantico, Va., but is scheduled for overseas duty in the Far East in the near future. Before going to his new assignment, however, the Major and his family are planning a vacation to Bermuda in addition to their visit to his brother and his family.

Surprise!

When Ed Duffy, Grove st., returned home after a recent out-of-town trip he had a pleasant surprise — one that will certainly save him a few aching muscles! While he was gone his wife, Marge, arranged for their roto-tilling, after which his neighbors, Ed Anderson and John Macior of Dove st., did the discing to prepare the ground for the lawn planting. Upon his return to Rolling Meadows Mr. Duffy found his lawn all planted.

Card Clubs

The "Sigwalt Street Card and Coffee Club" recently met for their monthly get-together. Members of the group—all neighbors in the 2500 block on Sigwalt st.—meet once each month for cards and light refreshments. The members include Mrs. Brankin, Mrs. White, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Farquhar and Mrs. Jaeski.

Mrs. Wing Groves, Campbell st., entertained one of the Rolling Meadows Pinochle clubs June 2. The prize of the evening went to Mrs. Marion Burt of Campbell st. for her high game. Other members of the club are Mrs. Nancy Dahlquist and Mrs Dorothy Thompson, both of Sigwalt st.

Recital

Miss Drusilla White, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bi White, 2507 Sigwalt st., played "Album Leaf" by Koaling as her solo selection in a piano recital given last Sunday at the field house in Arlington Heights. Her teacher is Mrs. Celia Hausam of Arlington Heights.

Cooperative Baby Sitting

A cooperative baby sitting plan has been suggested for Rolling Meadows. Such a plan has worked with considerable success in other new developments and is certainly worth a trial here. If anyone is interested in the development of such a plan Mrs. Alice Farrell, Campbell st., would be glad to discuss it. Her telephone number is Clearbrook 3-7558. This seems like the sensible solution to the high cost of regular baby sitters — How about it?

Birthdays

Bobby Pina, Wilke rd., was host at his birthday party for three of his young friends — Bobby Keller, Billy Adducci and Willie Jacobson — all of whom live on Wilke rd. Since the weather was extremely nice, most of the birthday celebrating took place outside.

Mrs. Barbara Sterner was the hostess at a birthday party for her brother, Bob Bishop. Both the Sterners and the Bishops are Rolling Meadowites on Campbell st. The celebration was attended by Mr. Bishop's parents from Chicago. Unfortunately, however, Bob was detained working last Friday evening and did not arrive for his own birthday party until 1:30 a.m. Saturday. Since the birthday cake was delivered personally by Mr. Bishop the party really did not start until his arrival.

Don Dahlquist, Sigwalt st., celebrated his birthday June 3 with a family party attended by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dahlquist of Chicago, and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Olson of Evanston. The most enthusiastic celebrant ,however, was his little three-year-old daughter, Diane, who thinks birthday cakes are just fine!

Outing

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thompson, 2504 Sigwalt st., heartily recommend as a perfect outing spot Lord's Park in Elgin. Last Sunday the Thompsons in the company of their 3-year-old son, Johnny, and 3-month-old son, Andrew, and 8-year-old neighbor, Janice Brankin, made the trip to Elgin to visit the Park. Elgin, being not too distant, the Thompsons are enthusiastic over the park as a picnic spot since it includes a zoo to amuse the children as well as wonderful picnic facilities.

Welcoming Committee

The Home Owners' Association is organizing a "Welcoming Committee" to greet new residents to Rolling Maedows. It is such a pleasant feeling to have someone drop in to say "hello" when you move to a new neighborhood, and it goes a long way to eliminate some of that "lost" feeling you have when you first move to your new house. Since there are between 15 and 20 "move-ins" each week, however, it is quite a big job to undertake. It would not be too big a job though if enough of the women who are now settled in Rolling Meadows would volunteer to visit a new family every week or two. If you would like to help in this undertaking please do not hesitate to volunteer. Only by having a sufficiently large group of "welcomers" will we be able to reach all of our new neighbors. If you feel you could spare a few minutes a week to welcome a new family please call Les Traub, who is the chairman of the Welcoming Committee. Mr. Traub's telephone number is Clearbrook 3-6462.

Want News

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party" could easily be rephrased to "Now is the time for all good Rolling Meadowites to come to the aid of their news column." Remember, this news column can only contain the news given to the reporter—so remember to call if there is any important event or news you would like published. With help this column should be able to include every Rolling Meadows family whenever they have an outstanding event—at least we'd like to try!

Expect Thousands At All-Saints Cemetery Consecration Sunday

Thousands of persons from the north and northwest suburbs and from Chicago are expected to witness the solemn consecration of the new All Saints cemetery, Des Plaines, Sunday, June 13, at 4 o'clock. Representatives of parish, veteran, fraternal and other groups from more than 100 parishes in the area will take part in the procession from the new office building to the interior of the cemetery where His Eminence, Cardinal Stritch will consecrate the 160 acres that comprise the new cemetery.

Fronting approximately one-half a mile on the west side of West River rd., opposite the original All Saints cemetery established in 1923, the new cemetery with its modern treatment presents a striking contrast to the older cemetery with its ornate entrance and the familiar tall picket fence separated by brick pillars.

News of Elk Grove

Fine and Dandy

Graduation ceremony Monday went off smoothly before almost 200 people.: Nine boys and 10 girls looked very sharp and so grownup on this impressive climax to their grade school education. The stage was breathtaking with its hedge of greens and flowers created by Mrs. Gwynn, Mrs. Laird and Mr. Schultz with the assistance of many pupils and donations of flowers from many families. The white backdrop with black silhouettes of graduates, graduates' caps and colored paper designs made by eighth graders and the large Elk Grove 1954 were equally effective.

The Rev. R. K. Wobbe of Christ church, Des Plaines, gave the invocation. LeRoy J. Knoeppel, superintendent of Arlington Heights high school, delivered the graduation address. Dennis Malcolmson, principal, presented the class to Harry Wille, president of the board of education, who gave each of the graduates his diploma. Eldon Krieder and Nancy Heimsoth gave the valedictory and salutatory addresses, respectively. Richard Dierking, class secretary, presented a $50 check to the school as a gift from the graduating class that they earned to apply toward library books and a record player.

Singing by the gradautes, supplemented by five seventh graders, was very impressive. Traditional processional and recessional from the back of the auditorium down the center aisle served as a fitting introduction and closing to this well-done ceremony. The graduates all wore inscribed red and grey streamers, denoting the school colors. Class pictures were taken immediately after the ceremony.

Mrs. Gwynn, eighth grade teacher, did nost of the work to make this graduation such a success. She planned the whole program, created the design and supervised the decorations, trained and directed the choral group, wrote the graduation publicity, played the graduation music and handled arrangements for refreshments, class jewelry, ribbons and pictures and a multitude of other details. Many bouquets to Mrs. Gwynn for a job "well done."

Seventh grade mothers donated cakes and served the refreshments. Mothers' club donated a grand inscribed cake, Harold Pasvogel, florist and father of Sally, one of the graduates, and a former board member, donated the beautiful floral pieces. Mrs. King and Mr. Turner assisted Mrs. Gwynn, and Mr. Turner made arrangements for the printing of the fine Elk design on the program cover.

Singled out for special recognition at the graduation exercises were Mrs. Laird, school secretary, and Mr. Schulze, custodian, who are the vital service people who keep the school running so effectively. Another behind-the-scenes group called to attention was the hard-working and conscientious board of education. Malcolmson reminded everyone of the bond election Saturday.

Supt. Knoeppel told the graduates that they would be 19 of a record-breaking freshman class of 450 next fall. He invited graduates to use the high school to the best of their ability. He also invited the school to use the high school gym for future graduations since Elk Grove will soon outgrow its capacity to hold graduation crowds.

Three graduates, Kay Bohnert, Donna Scharringhausen and Dorothea Schulze, have always attended this school. Fred Klamer came during first grade. In 1946 when they entered there were two classrooms as compared with the 11 classes of today. This year's graduating class of 19 is an all-time high, but only the beginning of larger and larger groups. In three years, two full classes of eighth graders will graduate and will have three times the number of graduates as this year.

Five Schaumburg pupils who were tuition pupils at this school last year and the first half of this year graduated at their new school last Friday.

Weatherman O.K.

Last Sunday's all-school picnic had full cooperation from the weatherman. Mothers' club deserves a big hand for the fine job done. Ticketed children received ice cream and pop. Both young adults and the younger young folks enjoyed baseball games and other contests. Harold Fischer brought his fine riding horse and took the young ones for a ride they all enjoyed. All in all it was a fine affair for the several hundred who attended.

Learning About Mexico

Mrs. Allison's fourth grade has been studying Mexico in social studies. An interesting exhibit of Mexican items was on display one day, and a typical Mexican meal was served to the room one noon. Mrs. Allison's daughter assisted some of the pupils in preparing this meal.

Field Trip

Mrs. McIntyre's first grade and Mrs. Olsen's second grade went to Busse grove for a picnic Monday afternoon. They came back very excited about their adventure and eager to tell of their experiences.

Skating Party

Last Monday's skating party had a turnout of 68 and plenty of room for all. Although this party lost $11, the other two netted a total of $25. With a loss on their dance, the student council just about broke even on their social ventures. However, the main idea of these functions was to have fun and get the families out—in this there was a high degree of success.

Three Months Parole

School dismissed Wednesday at noon for summer vacation. School will start the day after Labor day, September 7. School will be in session a half day only the first day. It is unfortunate that starting school reminders have to be mentioned when school is just let out; however, there might be some family on a round-the-world trip or lion hunting in Africa (!) who might wonder when to head for home.

Farewell Parties

Several of the classes had parties to climax the year. Mrs. King's sixth grade had a movie obtained by Mr. King and square dancing as part of their program. Mrs. Wallberg's fourth grade had an ice cream affair the last morning.

School staff had a farewell luncheon at Plentywood farm in Bensenville Wednesday. Mrs. Cashman made the arrangeemnts for the 11 teachers, secretary, custodian and principal. On returning to school teachers completed their year-end reports and records.

Curtis Brown is going to Missouri for his vacation this summer.

The McCammons and Stockhams of the York Trailer court are going to Wisconsin for a vacation.

After school Edith Eickhof is going to her grandmother's house to play with her kitten.

Saturday Georgia Hightower's cousin, Victoria, had a birthday.

For details of Saturday's bond election, see story elsewhere in today's paper.

Mike Nunamaker was eight years old June 6.

Betty Ann Schulze had a surprise birthday Thursday when she was nine years old.

Mrs. Effie Stroud, 81 years old, died June 6. She is a close friend of the Robert Allisons and a foster grandmother of Mary Kay. She visited the Allisons each year, and was a "grandmother to anyone who needed one," according to Mrs. Allison.

Remember to vote "yes" Saturday.

Mrs. Arthur R. Hanson VA. 4-4788

Feehanville School

On the back page of last week's issue of this paper, the board of directors of the Feehanville school advertised for bids on the new school. Saturday, the plans will be available at the office of Charles Klopp, architect and sealed bids will be accepted up until 8 p.m., Friday, July 2. After July 2 is when we can start looking for visible, tangible progress on the new school.

Last Friday was registration day at the Feehanville school. Mrs. Hazel Cavett and Miss Lois Rudd, the teachers, were there to register the new pupils and re-register those who were coming back next year. Mrs. Marguerite Broberg, Mrs. Dorothy Karnuth and Mrs. Elizabeth Flink were there too, representatives of the PTA, to greet the parents and get acquainted. All the parents were asked for their opinion on the best night in the week to have the PTA meeting, as Friday night seems to be a busy night for most people. The majority of the parents seemed to think Tuesday was a good night. This is one subject that will be brought up for discussion at our first meeting in the fall, so if any of you have any thoughts on this subject, won't you contact some member of the executive committee and let her know how you feel about it?

The first and second grade room held their picnic last Wednesday. Miss Rudd, the teacher, Mrs. Lerner, the speech teacher, Mrs. Kleeman, the cook, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Flink, Mrs. Kleinke and Mrs. Castre, all were there to help the children have a wonderful time. (And they enjoyed the day as much as the children did!)

We were sorry to hear Mrs. Lerner might not be with us next year. She tells us her husband is being transferred to Europe, and of course, she would want to be there with him.

Don't forget the Child Health conference this coming Tuesday morning, at the Community house.

Youth Activities

Kay Phar and Phyllis Schwictenberg, who are organizing the Variety show, tell us that things are going along fine. They have dancers, musicians, singers and dramatic talent lined up, and they are all busy practicing.

Several members of the Stockade had a fine day for their trip to the track meet at Wheaton college last Saturday. Michael Lipinsky, Jimmy O'Boyle, Michael Swiatowy and Chuckie Kozel were the lads who were able to go. Bernard Shimmin, leader, and his assistants, Bobby Martens and John Hanson, drove the boys there. They left here at 12:30 so as not to miss any of the events. Mr. and Mrs. Emert Roos, their youngsters, Stephan and Deborah, and Philip Roos, left a little later. The boys had an exciting day, as they participated in some of the events, and arrived home, tired and happy, about 5:30.

The boys and girls of the TFC are planning a picnic for this coming Saturday. They are going to have a cook-out, rather than carry lunch, and are all set for a wonderful day in the open.

Don't forget the Daily Vacation Bible school, June 14 to June 25 from 9 a.m. to 1:30. There will be Bible stories, handicraft, peppy singing, games, and even refreshments! All children, ages from 3 to 12 years, are welcome.

Community News

The Frank Sullivans took advantage of the lovely weather we had last Sunday and visited the Brookfield Zoo. The Sullivans have just recently become movie camera enthusiasts and were able to get some very interesting shots there at the zoo. The boys, Frank and Jerry, were in to see the baby animals in the Children's zoo, and took pictures of them, too.

The Sullivans have just come back from a long trip over the Memorial Day week-end. They really covered ground on that trip, as they visited Mr. Sullivan's folks in Manchester and Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Sullivan's folks in Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Mrs. Clare Haverkampf, who just recently moved to North Lake village from here, was operated on last Saturday. Everything seems to be fine, but she will be in the hospital at least another week. Her address would be Elmhurst hospital, Room No. 133, if you would like to send her a "GetWell" card.

That spiritual understanding of God protects man from disease and danger, and is not subject to material laws of chance and change, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

"God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love" (106:7).

From the King James Version of the Bible the following verses will be among those read: "Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation; There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling" (Psalms 91:9,10).

FOR THE ANSWER TO THIS QUESTION

Weekend trips are fun — but when I think of the chance of injury from auto accidents, playground equipment, swimming and motor boats, I realize the need for accident insurance. Do such policies cover disability, loss of limbs, and death from any cause such as drowning or auto crashes?

Seek Used Ping Pong Tables For High School Gym Classes

Ping pong tables that are gathering dust in attics and garages are the objects of a current drive by the physical education department of Arlington Heights high school.

At present, the department has only one table, which has created a considerable interest among students. Gym teachers would like to add ping-pong to the list of sports studied and played by gym classes.

Persons who have ping pong tables which they would like to sell or donate to the school are asked to call Miss Craig at the high school, Clearbrook 3-0200.

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

Belleville high school has a baseball pitcher whom the major league scouts will be after for sure. Rick Wagner, a small five foot eight inch lefty, finished the state tournament and the season with 58 successive scoreless innings to his credit, or over eight straight seven inning high school games.

He pitched his school to the state title with three of the shutouts climaxing the state tournament by twirling a no hitter in the final game against Bowen of Chicago when he allowed only 22 men to face him.

He shut out New Tried in the semi-finals with three hits. New Trier, favorite to win the state title, had the same team which went to the national finals in American Legion Junior baseball last summer. Every time Belleville has qualified for the state tournament they have won it, and that is a total of four times.

LITTLE LEAGUE opened in Palatine Saturday night and in Arlington Heights a week earlier. The enormous number of small fry playing baseball in these towns and in Bensenville indicates the caliber of baseball in high school in the next six years will take a rapid rise. We think Little League is a fine thing if it is kept on pretty much a local area basis.

We are not in sympathy with the idea of state and national tournaments for boys the age of the Little Leaguers.

We would like to see the same sort of thing being done during the school year in the grade schools in touch football, basketball, and track activities on a restricted basis in line with the physical capacity of the youngsters.

WE HEARD THE PRINCIPAL of a nearby school say, as chairman of a meeting of principals and superintendents on school sports, that he thought the elementary schools were missing the boat in not having a program of sports activities geared to the needs, interests, and physical development of the boys.

Instead they offer so little in sports that community groups are prompted to take over the promotion of sports for the youngsters, and sometimes this turns out to be exploitation rather than education.

Looking over the list of men who are in charge of Little League in the Paddock Publications communities we are certain this activity is in good hands. Competition is a basic part of the American way of life. It is not too early at the junior high age for boys to learn to win and lose.

NORMAN STENZEL was the deserving winner of the Palatine Lions athletic award at Palatine high school. Stenzel was rated highest among graduating seniors on the qualities of scholarship, athletic achievement, sportsmanship, dependability, cooperation, leadership, and training with Lawrence Hapke running a strong second. Stenzel's name will be inscribed on the Lions plaque established in 1948 in memory of four Palatine alumni athletes who gave their lives in World War II. These men were Francis Reuse, John O'Brien, Wilbert Gieske, and Jack Thompson.

Stenzel ranked second in national honor society ratings, was a top performer in the band, lettered in football and track, was in the state track meet two years in a row and holds the Northwest conference and Palatine school records in the high and low hurdles.

Richard "Tinker" Meyer, a four letter man in both junior and senior year at Palatine high, won three baseball honors during the past week. He was named winner of the Fred Herbertz memorial trophy as most valuable player of the year in baseball, was named by the Chicago Tribune on the all Northwest conference team, and was named, along with Jay Hook of Grayslake, to represent the conference on the Chicago suburban all star team which will meet the Chicago city league all stars June 26 in the game sponsored by the Chicago Herald American's prep sports department, headed by Tommy Kouzmanoff.

Meyer has more natural ability than most of the athletes we have seen come and go in the Northwest Conference in the past 20 years.

When he was a sophomore scouts from an Ohio college came to the regional tournament at Barrington to see Don Buenzow, Palatine's six foot seven center in action. They liked Buenzow enough to offer a scholarship but picked Meyer, then a sophomore, as the best college prospect in the tournament. This spring when major league scouts came to Palatine to watch Jay Hook in action for Grayslake they spoke a good word for his chances but picked out Meyer as good prospect though they saw him strike out twice.

They said he had a good swing and took a real good cut at the ball. Meyer batted .385 and looked his worst in the Grayslake game.

Our own opinion is that Meyer's best prospect is as a golf pro. Playing both baseball and golf in the same season has hurt his game in both but it has still been just about the best Palatine has ever had in these sports.

JAY HOOK, who pitched Grayslake to a share of the Northwest conference championship, had a phenomenal hurling record during the past season in spite of losing four of 14 starts. Hook allowed only 43 hits in 91 2/3 innings pitched, struck out 188 for an average of two an inning, and had only 16 earned runs scored against him in 14 games for a 1.143 a game average.

In addition Hook got 15 hits in 45 times at bat including two homers and batted in 11 runs. No question about this fellow being most valuable player in the league for 1954.

GORDON BRUNO was voted captain and Tom Lay most valuable baseball player at Glenbrook. . . . Though Libertyville finished seventh in North Suburban baseball race, the Wildcats' Larry Brickert won the league batting crown with ten hits in 19 times at bat for a .474 mark. . . . Teammate Dick Wells finished fourth in the loop with a .412. . . .

Athlete of the year award has been given Dick Winterbauer at Arlington Heights high school. . . .

Past winners, since '47, were Al Stroker, Marv Berschet, Bill Robinson, Gordon Busse, Bob Evans, Ron Grace and John Eakins. . . . Awarded a freshman track numeral at Knox is Ron Larson of Arlington. . . . Others included frosh golf, John Golterman of York; varsity tennis, George Smith of Maine and Al McElwain of Hinsdale; varsity baseball, James Krughoff of Downers. . . .

FROM A HEART MURMUR his freshman year to renewed school activities his junior year, then all-conference football is the story of George Boss of Hinsdale. . . .

Cork & Bottle Whips Potter's Drive-In, 10-3

A late-inning uprising dealt Potter's Drive-In a 10-3 setback Sunday in an arc-light encounter with Cork and Bottle at Palatine community park.

Potters had forged a three-run second to tie the 1953 Northern Illinois Fastball League champions at 3-all. But two costly overthrows in the fifth opened the door for three Palatine counters and three doubles in the eighth added four more.

Lefty Enos was the victim of shoddy first inning support as Elgin took a 3-0 lead. Enos gave only seven hits. Elgin's three-run second was propelled by two-base blows delivered by Rex Ruffner and Dick Rudin.

BIG INNINGS for Palatine: In the first Schmidt singled with three errors putting Musson and Majewski also on base, all three scoring. In the fifth a single by Santucci, walk to Buell and single by Roeselin accounted for three more.

A walk to Ned Wickersham, plus a long fly to center, then a single by Santucci brought in run number seven in the sixth for Palatine. Final trio of runs was tallied in the eighth on doubles by Musson, Majewski and Wickersham.

Bob Loutsch was winning pitcher for Cork & Bottle, walking five and fanning ten.

Cork & Bottle will oppose Harvey Moose Thursday night at Calumet City, starting at 8:30. "The boys" will come right home after the game.

Three Heights Baseball Seniors Win More Honors

JACK SIEBURG, Arlington's representative in the annual Herald-American city-suburban prep game.

TED BAKALAR, honorary captain of the Arlington varsity nine.

CHARLEY VERRET, the Cardinals' first team entry on the Chicago Tribune West Suburban all-league team.

Three members of Coach Howard Lester's varsity baseball squad at Arlington Heights-were named recipients of honors this week. Official all-conference baseball team had not been selected as of Tuesday of this week. Whether it ever will be is unknown.

Ted Bakalar was named honorary captain and leading hitter of the West Suburban league, Jack Sieburg was selected to play in the annual city vs. suburbs prep game, and Charley Verret was named to a Chicago daily's all-star team.

BAKALAR appears quiet elsewhere, but he has been "a ball of fire" on the diamond. Always a good competitor on the field, Ted is believed to have the highest batting average in the West Suburban league. His mark was .413 in all games, higher in conference.

West Suburban contests.

His teammates selected him honorary captain. Fans used to visualizing "giants" as batting leaders would be surprised at Ted's average height and size. He also has a good throwing arm.

JACK SIEBURG will compete in the Chicago Herald-American city stars vs. suburban stars game. Jack is the fourth Arlington graduate to make the team. Others were pitchers Bill Robinson and Ray Huffman, and second baseman Ronnie Grace. Two boys are usually selected from each of the suburban area leagues for the team.

Jack has been a good hitter with a .327 average. His reaction is like that of a cat, moving both right, left and backwards as the ball left the bat. Jack is fast, possibly the best fielder in the CHARLEY VERRET, sky scraping clutch hitter for the Cardinals, played second, the outfield and catcher this past season. Charley's average wasn't anything to mention, but getting hits when needed made up for it.

Verret started at second, moved behind the plate when Bob Dotts was temporarily sidelined, then went to the outfield where he showed best. A shoulder injury failed to stop him from completing the season.

Charley was slated to be named this week to the Chicago Tribune all-star team. Just when the official all-league team will be selected by coaches is not known. West Suburban league rules prohibit conference coaches from participating in any selections of all-star teams until the official canvass has been made.

Don Gerken Fans 16 For Second Straight Win

By The Dad of a Little Leaguer

The Cardinals and their big, husky righthander, Don Gerken, are the hottest news in Arlington Heights Little League competition, which gets hotter each week.

With Gerken pitching his second straight victory, the Cardinals blasted the Cubs, 7-2, last Saturday at Recreation Park. Young Gerken struck out 16 in the six innings.

A week ago, Gerken, an ambitious 7th grader who some day hopes to pitch for Arlington Hts. high school, struck out 15.

AGAINST THE CUBS, the Cardinals' brilliant hurler struck out the side in the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 5th and 6th innings.

Gerken gave the Cubs two hits, both in the fourth inning, a single by Bob Hutchinson and a single by Bill Miller, to bring the Cubs their two runs.

Thus, in two mounds starts, Gerken has yielded a total of three hits. His manager, Ben Fleury, says he'll pitch Gerken Saturday when the Cardinals meet the Braves at Recreation Park at 1 p.m.

The Cardinals racked up their third straight Monday night at the expense of the Dodgers, 7-4.

IN THE AMERICAN League, the White Sox took over undisputed leadership by trouncing the Red Sox, 7-0, for their second win without a defeat. It was the first setback in two games for the Red Sox. John Taylor held the Red Sox to two hits.

The Red Sox rebounded from that defeat with a resounding 10-5 triumph over the Yankees to bring their league showing to 2-1.

DENNIS HARTMAN brought joy to the Braves by pitching them to their first victory in three starts, 7-3 masterpiece over the Cubs. Although he allowed eight hits, Dennis scattered them and fired across 13 strikeouts at opportune moments.

Chester Sckolski, catcher, and Don Small, who will pitch Saturday's battle with the Cardinals, led the Braves in the triumph over the Cubs with two hits each.

Braves, Cubs Win Openers In Palatine Little League

by MOOSE FOSTER

Little League opened officially in Palatine Monday night. Two games were played and the fans were treated to all kinds of baseball; a 1-0 game in the opener in which the Braves defeated the Yanks and a slugfest in the night game when the Cubs swamped the White Sox 6-3.

In the opening contest, Braves catcher John scored the only run when he got on base via a pass and went around the bases on an error and an infield out; the only hit by the Braves was a single by Bassett in the 4th inning.

DIETRICH, Brave pitcher, struck out ten and walked five; outside the winning run, the Braves didn't get a man past second. Yanks got three hits, one by Kehe and two by Bissing. Yank pitcher Nelson, struck out ten and walked five. The Yanks got three men as far as third base but couldn't score.

The nightcap included the Cubs' four-run 4th inning. Funston walked, followed by Welty's homer, Schur hit, Norton singled, Goldammer walked, Howland struck out and Schur and Norton scored on an error by catcher Rogan. The Cubs collected six hits and 11 were struck out by Sox pitchers, Knowles and Baumrucker.

The White Sox attack of three hits featured a home run by Gustafson with Jarszk scoring ahead of him; the other Sox hit was a single by Baumrucker. Eleven Sox batters were struck out by pitcher Gephart.

Mt. Prospect Merchants Win Openers In Little League

by BETTY KIRCHHOFF

Mount Prospect Merchants lost to the Builders, 2-1, in an exciting Little League game Saturday evening at Mount Prospect. Bob Leekley was the winning pitcher and Eugene Dahlquist the loser.

The Builders scored both of their runs in the sixth inning on Dick Koch's double, Carl Erber's triple, and Ralph Ibbotsen's single. They would have had more runs if Donnie Boedeker hadn't made a spectacular running catch of Fred Mosiman's fly ball.

Fritzie Peterson scored the Merchants' only run on a leadoff triple in the fifth inning.

MONDAY EVENING the Merchants beat the Lions, 6-2. Fritzie Peterson won his second game of the season, giving up three hits, walking three batters and striking out eight of the Lions. This raised his total strikeouts for the season to 15.

Freddie Boedeker hit a homer with two Merchants on base in the first inning. This proved to be enough runs for a Merchant victory but they added three more just to be safe. Robert Manchester started for the Lions and was the losing pitcher. Allan Kruse relieved him in the fourth.

Bill Koopman and Keith Grams played a sensational game at shortstop and second base stopping a number of balls that looked like sure hits.

Jr. Legion Ball Slate To Open This Saturday

Junior Legion baseball schedule gets under way this week end in spite of some difficulties on the local front. Arlington is scheduled to play at Mount Prospect Saturday and host Portage Park Sunday. Palatine will travel to Franklin Park Saturday and entertain Mount Prospect Sunday.

Big problems at Heights, as of Tuesday of this week, included weather and when the main diamond at Recreation park could be used and exact personnel of the team. Most teams draw from the high school in its area. Both Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect Junior Legion teams, however, will probably divide players from the Cardinal high school team.

UNTIL THIS week naming of a coach at Mount Prospect had been held up. Reports that Gene Dassonville would return to again direct that team gives Mount Prospect the green light at a moment when it was thought there might not be a team.

Up at Palatine high school coach Claude Bailey will continue where he left off in Northwest conference play. Regular members of his squad not yet 17 as of January 1 of this year are certain to see action.

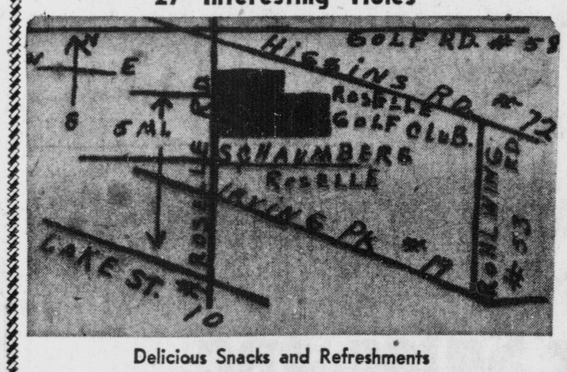

Down Bensenville way the Junior Legion team is a member of the DuPage county set-up, information from which has not been forthcoming.

George also ranked second in team scoring in basketball, is a baseball pitcher, and has offers from 15 colleges. . . . He'll pick from Colorado, Utah and Wisconsin. . . .

We wonder how many messages Arlington's Dick Winterbauer has received from institutions of higher learning about the country. . . .

Earning a frosh baseball numeral at Illinois is Tom Potter of Downers Grove. . . . Frosh track awards went to Dick Cline of Glenbard and Dick Williams of LaGrange. . . . Tom Rowader of Prospect Heights was awarded a varsity letter in Illini golf, Ed Pechous of Downers Grove in tennis. . . .

ALONG WITH GROWTH of Little League in this area is the need for additional baseball diamonds. . . . This is particularly true in Arlington Heights where eight Little League, eight Pony League and eight Minor League teams playing full schedules mean baseball during the summer for hundreds of youngsters. . . . Little League baselines are shorter, necessitating revision of established diamonds. . . . Arlington Redwings, semi-pro team, are no more, due to a variety of causes, leaving baseball-inclined youths beyond Junior Legion and high school age without an opportunity to play. . . .

The future of Legion baseball in Arlington Heights may be shaky in the future unless increased facilities are provided so that the various organized teams of all ages can practice as well as play. . . .

Hard part is that everyone wants to play on the main diamond at Recreation park, one of the best in the Chicago area. . . . The park board is abiding by a system of reservations, but individual board members will undoubtedy have many headaches through summer months. . . . That diamond is as crowded as the pool, where activities of non-residents of the park district have been restricted. . . .

Redlegs And indians Win Pony League Openers At Arlington

A neat four hit performance by the Redlegs' Jerry Klement and an equally masterful three hit shutout by the Indians' Paul Incapreo highlighted the initial Arlington Heights Pony league games Friday and Saturday.

The Redlegs walloped the Orioles, 14-1, while the Indians slapped the Phillies, 4-0, in the lidlifters of the 1954 four team race.

Supported with an eight hit attack that countered at least one run in every inning of the abbreviated five frame tilt, Klement was in complete control. His fast ball was working as evidenced by his 13 strikeouts out of a maximum 15 outs. He set the side down on whiffs in the first, third and fifth.

THE ORIOLES' lone run came in the third on a walk, stolen base and single by center fielder Lee Magnuson.

Denny Zapp, the Orioles' hurler, struck out the side in the first inning but sandwiched in between were two singles, a double, two walks, and a convincing 4-0 Redleg lead.

After giving up a leadoff walk to Ralph Carlino to start the second, Zapp got into more trouble.

FOLLOWING the free pass, a fielding miscue off the bat of Al Hutchinson put two runners on with no one out. Kelley sacrificed, Klement was hit by a pitched ball, and Barbour sliced a one base knock for the only hit of the inning. Net result was two more runs and a 6-0 lead for the Reds.

A single counter was added to the victors' total in the third, and a quartet of base runners came across home plate in a big fourth inning.

Three fifth inning runs on no hits brought the offensive show to a close in Friday's rout. Seven batters paraded to the plate and three scored, but no one connected for a safe blow.

SATURDAY afternoon's Pony League tilt found the Indians' Incapreo and Phillies' Jim Perry hooked up in a scoreless pitchers' duel for four innings. Then the roof caved in on Perry!

Don Carstens opened the fifth with a single and Bill Fischer drew a base on balls. Perry eased the tension when he fanned hard-hitting Denny Schumacher and Greg Rose, but Tom Thackery punched out a single to right to keep the offense rolling.

Catcher and clean up hitter, Al Sander, a long ball threat in the Little League last summer, followed Thackery and inaugurated his '54 Pony League power display with a base-clearing homer. The Indians had 4 runs across and, as it turned out, an impressive 4-0 opening day win.

INCAPREO fanned ten and walked six in going the full seven frames. Perry struck out ten and walked four before yielding to reliefer Bob Lockwood in the sixth.

Lohr's Takes Lead In Arlington Golf At Mt. Prospect

Arlington twi-light golfers were rained out Friday, May 28, and though some of the more rugged boys managed to play nine holes, the majority did not finish so the matches were declared no contest. These same matches were played Friday, June 4, and some good team scores changed the standings quite a bit.

Lohr's Pharmacy came from third to take over the lead by one half a point. Dunteman's Dairy is now in second place with Jahn's Service in third only three and one half points out. Black's Memorial team moved up to fourth.

Low gross score for the night was a 38 by Ernie Simmons. Three golfers, H. Garey, D. Hamburg and L. Dunteman tied for a low net score of 33.

Arlington Little Leaguer Loses Glove

Tom Taylor, pitcher for the Orioles in the Arlington Heights Pony league, is a broken hearted youngster—and not because he lost a game.

More serious, he lost his major league model glove —a Playmaker, Rawlings PM-1 model, which sells for $22.95.

Tom lost it somewhere in Arlington Heights last week. Anyone finding the glove can patch up a youngster's broken heart. Tom Taylor lives at 717 S. Vail, Arlington Heights.

Mount Prospect Golf League's Hubby-Wife Tourney Sunday

Both divisions of Mount Prospect twilight golf league will participate Sunday, June 13, in the annual husband and wife tournament. Tee-off time will be 3 p.m.

The husband-wife event is always one of the biggest events of the year. Plenty of prizes will go to the winners with league officials hoping for the best turnout in recent years. Play, of course, is at Mount Prospect country club.

Busse Motors Move To Third In Tuesday Golf

Henry Kruse's Schlitz team continued to be the team to beat as the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League completed the first third of its 1954 season. The Brewers have been in first place since the first night of play six weeks ago and continued true to form by trouncing Keefer's Pharmacy 7½-2½ last Tuesday.

Mount Prospect Jewelers meanwhile, scored a 7-3 victory over Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. to stay on in second place as Kruse's likely successor should the beer team falter.

Taking advantage of the Electricians' defeat by the Jewelers, Busse Motors took undisputed possession of third place with a 6-4 victory over Golden's Food Store.

Birdies: Bill Hartman, No. 7; H. Baylis, 8 and 9; Al Schock, No. 13.

THREE RECORDS SET

In Paddock Publications Eight Editions Last Week

1—MORE WANT ADS

A record high number of columns of classified advertising was run up by the eight editions of Paddock Publications last week with want ads stretched over five-and-a-half pages. Previous high was a half column short of five pages.

Classifieds have always been a strong point of the Paddock newspapers. They've grown with the area, with paid circulation, modern typography and nine phones combining to enable classified advertisers to reach almost 17,000 homes at a minimum of cost.

2—MORE HERALDS

Ever since its birth 27 years ago the Arlington Heights Herald has been growing, until now it has the largest individual distribution of any of the eight Paddock papers. Last week the total reached 5,100, the first time a single Paddock paper has reached the 5,000 mark.

The other papers have grown, too. Since 1947, a date most of us consider "modern times" the Arlington Heights Herald has almost doubled its distribution; the Mt. Prospect Herald has increased 132%, the Palatine Enterprise 53%; the Register editions in DuPage county 45%.

3—MORE PAPERS

Total distribution of the eight editions of Paddock Publications reached the all-time high of 16,855 last week. Circulation department of the Paddock papers has attempted to keep pace with the rapidly growing area, but it's been a big job. With more than a thousand homes being built within the Paddock area each year, keeping up with the new and changing addresses has been difficult.

But we're doing it! Rolling Meadows, probably the fastest growing community around Chicago, received 288 Paddock Publications last week, in an area where only the cows read the paper a year ago.

Jim Rowader's One-Under Par Leads Rob Roy Golf League

Smith & Dawson, led by Jim Rowader's one under par 35, beat Prospect Hts. Service Station, 6-1, in Rob Roy golf league. For the second week in a row this Smith & Dawson team has displayed championship golf and apparently have their sights set on the Paddock tournament. Jim Rowader's one under par card read as follows:

Hole	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18
Par	4	4	3	5	4	4	4	4	4
Rowader	3	3	3	5	3	5	5	4	4

Kirchhoff Insurance stopped Webber Paint, 6-1, thanks to young Dick Brodnan. Dick fired a 40 with 13 handicap for a net 27, good enough to take low for the night.

This being Dick's first year in the league probably had a lot to do with his getting off to such a slow start. However, this week he has found himself and will undoubtedly be a rough customer from here on.

L-NOR CLEANERS are still a threat to the leaders as they beat Dunteman Dairy, 5-2. The teams split the match points but Joe Marcin's return to his usual game was instrumental in winning the three team points for the Cleaners.

It has just been learned via the grapevine why the sponsor and team captain, Virgil Rolfs, has been absent these past two weeks. His mother was quite critically injured in an auto accident and he is there to render his assitance. The league extends its sympathy, Virgil.

MICHAEL'S IGA bounced back from last week's white wash to beat Wheeling Bowling Lanes, 5-2. The grocery boys wouldn't lose two weeks in a row, despite Marsh Balling's 37 for the losers.

Rhodes Appliances continued to stay with striking distance of the leaders by beating Koske Excavators, 5-2.

Other Scores:

Whitton Realty beat Wulbecker Furniture 5½ to 1½.

Pk. Ridge Stop & Sock beat Prospect Hts. Pharmacy 5 to 2.

Wins Lacrosse Letter

Spring sports participants at Oberlin college were awarded varsity letters during an informal get-together in Warner gymnasium Wednesday evening, June 2. Harlan Gephart, a freshman in the college of arts and sciences, received his first letter in lacrosse.

Harlan, a graduate of Palatine high school, was a member of the football squad last fall. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Gephart, 151 N. Mozart.

State Amateur Golf Tournament At Urbana

The 24th annual Illinois state amateur golf championship, sponsored by the Chicago district golf association, will be played over the Urbana golf and country club June 21-26. Haynes Hawkins of Mt. Vernon will defend. The University of Illinois golf star won the title last year at Bloomington country club by defeating Larry Moller, Quincy lumberman, 1-up.

Competition will open with a two-day 36 hole qualifying round, 18 holes June 21 and 18 holes June 22 to determine 64 low scorers for the championship flight.

Entry fee is $5.00 and should be forwarded to the Chicago district golf association, Room 241 LaSalle hotel, Chicago. Entries close on June 15. Tee entries will not be accepted. The Championship will be supervised by a committee consisting of Fred Slyder, Sidney T. Jessop, Charles Eckstein and Stacy Osgood of the CDGA and Emmet Sweeny, Ross Martin, Lloyd Worden, A. K. Downs, Harold White, R. A. Stipes Jr. and Don Street of Urbana Golf and Country club.

Among early entries is that of George Daviantis of Arlington Country club.

Palatine Golfers End Good Year With Victory

Palatine closed the golf season with a 11½ to 6½ victory over Leyden high of Franklin Park who won the South Suburban championship this year. Leyden has not beaten Palatine in golf in the past seven years.

In the matches played at Inverness Pete Abramson defeated Esposota of Leyden with an 83 to an 86. John Goetz with an 86 beat Hall of Leyden, Breitling with 87 defeated Bullis of Leyden, and Florey with 85 whipped Clemens of the visitors. Noel Anderson with 95 and John Goodwille with a 97 were the Palatine boys who were outscored. Dick Meyer, one of Palatine's top golfers, did not compete.

PALATINE CLOSED the season with a 9-6 record. Pete Abramson, Dick Meyer, and John Goetz were the low eighty and high seventy shooters for the team though Meyer played only part time due to baseball. Noel Anderson, Fred Breitling, Roger Florey, and John Goodwille varied their scores in the high eighties and the nineties. Pete Abramson was conference champ with a 76 with Dick Meyer tied for second with a 77 and John Goetz tied for fourth with 78.

Palatine won their fifth Northwest title in a row by defeating Glenbrook by three points while scoring 311, a league record. Palatine was a consistent winner on the home Inverness course, losing only to New Trier of the Suburban league at the McIntosh owned club. Art Zimmer coached the team for the second year. Only Meyer and Abramson are lost by graduation.

L-Nor Cleaners And Murphy Insurance Tied In St. James Golf

St. James golf league at Rob Roy finds itself in a nip and tuck battle for the lead with L-Nor Cleaners and Murphy Insurance tied for first and the next five teams no more than three and one-half points behind. The two leaders will be playing each other as this goes to press so that by June 16, there may be any one of a number of teams in the top spot.

Wayne Rolfs, with a 37 gross and 29 net, led the boys on the front nine while John Eiler, with a 39 gross, and Vince Ford, with a 31 net, paced the back nine.

June 16 finds Arlington Milk against Fosters, Roll King vs. Ericksons, Prospect Heights Service Station vs. Murphy's on the front nine and Glueckerts vs. Stefaniks, Urick vs. D. W. Henny, and L-Nor vs. Big Freeze on the back.

Dirt Farmer Dons Helmet For Races

An honest-to-goodness dirt farmer has sent in his entry for the eighth annual IMCA championship big car races at picturesque Aurora Downs, Sunday, June 13.

He is little Jimmy Campbell who farms 300 acres near Bates City, Mo. Jimmy, prematurely bald, says, "I didn't get that way racing, that comes from worrying over crops."

Jimmy will chauffer his own No. 25 flamingo pink Offenhauser at the Fox Valley oval. The car is powered by a 270 cubic inch engine, the same size and type used in every one of the Indianapolis "500" cars this year.

Time trials will get the green flag at 1:30 with the first of six races getting flagged off at 2:30 p.m.

Dancing Helicopter

A dancing helicopter will frolic along with the bulls and the broncos at Arlington Farms CYO polo club, Libertyville, during the 3-day annual Bar M Ranch Rodeo, June 11, 12 and 13.

Rain Helping Corn But Worms Are Present

Big news over the corn belt this past week was rain and lots of it. Reports from the 20 DeKalb seed corn weather stations in eight states indicated rainfall everywhere. A week's rainfall at Storm Lake, Iowa, was 7.15 inches; at Waterman, Illinois, 6.54 inches; at Monmouth, Illinois, 5.7 inches. Nearly all of the corn belt reported at least 2 inches of rain in the week from May 27 to June 3. Problems connected with dry weather have disappeared at present. Corn which was planted in dry soil has now germinated, and subsoil moisture is pretty well replenished.

Current worries about the corn crop are need for more sunlight and higher temperatures, but clearing skies followed the heavy rains; and sun and warmth will naturally follow. Of course, some fields are weedy, but modern quick cultivation and improved weed spraying materials can soon handle that problem.

Corn now ranges from 1 to 5 inches in height in most of the corn belt, but down in southern Missouri and Arkansas fields are knee high to waist high. More fertilizer and more high analysis fertilizer was used all over the corn belt this year, so with sun and heat, the crop will soon be booming.

Insect damage was widely scattered with cutworms, wireworms, bill-bugs, and armyworms causing some replanting.

Cultivate And Mulch To Kill Garden Weeds

Cultivating and mulching are the most useful methods for fighting weeds in the garden.

Carl F. Mees, farm adviser says that so far chemicals have not proved practical for home gardens.

Main objective of cultivating is to kill weeds. Don't cultivate too deeply or you may damage the roots. Scraping is as good as deep cultivation. If you use a garden cultivator, cultivate very shallowly, especially close to the plants.

Mulching is also a good way to keep down weeds, and it will help to save the moisture too. Mulching is used for strawberries, tomatoes and potatoes. You can use straw, burlap, paper or similar material.

If you use straw, put on two or three inches, and put it on before the plants start to spread. If any weeds do poke through, you can kill them easily with a hoe.

Six Inches Up

When using insulating siding on either a new home or an old one, the first course of panels should start one inch below the lowest point on the building, and should be at least six inches above ground.

Can Plant Sudan Grass For Emergency Pasture Here

The best emergency pasture for this summer is Sudan grass. Sudan will furnish high-quality pasture from four to six weeks after planting until frost.

Carl F. Mees, farm adviser, says Sudan can be planted any time from the last few days of May or early June through early August.

FOR PASTURES Mees suggests preparing a seedbed just as you would for planting corn. Then drill or broadcast the Sudan at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds an acre. Sudan is a grass, and Mees recommends treating the seed with a fungicide, such as Ceresan or Panogen, before planting.

Sweet Sudan is the most popular variety in Illinois, and one of the best.

BUY ONLY certified seed or seed that you know is pure. Pure Sudan is much less likely to cause prussic acid poisoning than Sudan that contains mixtures of grain or forage sorghum or the hybrids that result from natural crossing of Sudan and other sorghums.

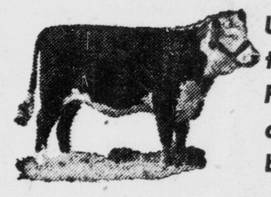

Let the Sudan reach a height of 18 inches before pasturing and you will have less trouble with Prussic acid poisoning. Usually Sudan will be ready to graze four to six weeks after it is planted

Government Now Selling Surplus Stocks Of Food

A vigorous sales program to sell some of the government owned farm products seems to be paying off.

L. J. Norton, University of Illinois farm economist, says the program has resulted from a decision by the U. S. department of agriculture that it has to sell these products at prices people will pay.

"THE LESSON has been learned," Norton states, "that the way to reduce stocks is to sell, and the way to sell is to price products so that they can compete in the markets where consumers or merchants buy."

In the last week of April, the government sold nearly six million bushels of corn, ten million bushels of wheat and 500 thousand bushels of oats, all at the market price.

Large sales of dried skim milk to feed mixers at three and a half to four cents a pound are reported, Norton says. This offer is made at a time when soybean meal is scarce and high priced.

FROM JULY 1953 through January 1954, 52 million pounds of cottonseed oil and 111 million pounds of linseed oil were sold abroad. At the same time, Norton says, private traders sold more tallow and soybeans in foreign markets.

The U. S. D. A. has offered to sell its dairy stocks to foreign buyers at world prices. At the same time it has moved to take over fewer products by reducing price supports. Recent lower butter prices have led to a 10 per cent increase in butter use, according to statements by government officials.

Among the commodities for which price supports have been reduced during the past 12 months are cottonseed, soybeans, beans, peas and manufactured dairy products.

LAW on the FARM

The Swine Brucellosis Law

The 1951 legislature adopted an act "in relation to the suppression, eradication and control of brucellosis (Bang's Disease) among swine." It applied only to male hogs. In 1953 this law was amended to include both male and female animals for breeding purposes. It provides that:

"No person shall sell any female swine 4 months of age and over for breeding purposes nor sell or offer the services of any male swine for breeding purposes unless such swine are accompanied by an official brucellosis certificate showing that the swine have been tested by an accredited, approved veterinarian within 60 days of sale or service and found free of brucella micro-organisms. Such test shall be recognized for one change of ownership or premises only within the 60-day period. Except as otherwise provided, a negative test shall be required for each change of ownership or premises should a change of ownership or premises occur within 60 days from date of test.

SWINE OVER four months of age coming into Illinois for breeding or exhibition purposes must be tested within 30 days of entry, and Illinois swine to be exhibited must be tested within 90 days of the show. Reactors must be tagged in the left ear and cannot be offered for breeding purposes but may be sold only for slaughter.

The required certificate can be issued only by an accredited, approved veterinarian.

This law is administered by the division of livestock industry of the Illinois state department of agriculture. It may be found in the Illinois revised statutes, chapter 8, sections 148f-148M.

Wheat Quota Penalty Set $1.12 Bushel

The marketing quota penalty on "excess" wheat of the 1954 crop is $1.12 a bushel, Carl M. Bormet, chairman of the county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, announced.

The rate is uniform throughout the country and, as directed under law, represents 45 per cent of the wheat parity price as of May 1, 1954.

FARMERS who do not comply with their wheat acreage allotments are subject to marketing quota penalty provisions on their "excess" wheat except that there is no "excess" wheat on any farm with a wheat acreage of 15 or less. Their wheat crop also is ineligible for Government price supports if the wheat acreage is in excess of the wheat allotment acreage.

The first buyer of the wheat becomes liable for the penalty if the farmer at the time of marketing is not able to present a wheat marketing card or wheat marketing certificate as evidence that his crop is penalty-free.

In such a case, the buyer should collect the penalty and transmit it within 15 days to the treasurer of the county ASC committee for the county in which the wheat was produced, the chairman explained.

Palatine Guernsey Increases Food Supply

A registered Guernsey cow, Colleen's Nan of Riverdale, owned by Robert Anderson, Palatine, put 12,810 pounds of milk and 615 pounds of butterfat into the country's breadbasket. This production represents approximately 6047 quarts of high-quality milk. This is according to the official Herd Improvement Registry record released by the American Guernsey Cattle club. "Nan," a twelve year-old was milked 624 times while on test.

Guernsey cows on official test have steadily increased production over the years. The average cow in the United States produces only about one-half as much as the average purebred Guernsey on official test.

The sire of "Nan" is St. James Madge's Robert. One son and eight daughters of this bull are listed in the Performance Register of the American Guernsey Cattle club.

This record was supervised by University of Illinois.

Illinois Farm Land Bringing Record High Price In U.S.

Illinois farm land is the most desired in all America. This fact, and many other interesting and important ones, is shown in a recent USDA report. Here are some of the highlights from the official report that was based on a survey made in March:

In central Illinois current market values for farms classed as "good" are around $450 to $500 an acre. These prices compare with values of $275 to $325 for "good" farms in northern Indiana and Iwa.

AVERAGE VALUE of Illinois farm land in March was $214 an acre. Iowa land values rated second at $184 an acre. Ohio and Indiana followed at $174 and $172 an acre, respectively.

Three small eastern states reported higher farm real estate values than Illinois, but in those states values are set largely by residential and other nonfarm uses. Average acre values reported for these three states were: New Jersey, $343; Conncticut, $271; and Rhode Island, $251.

Average acre values of farm land in other states around Illinois were: Michigan, $118; Wisconsin, $99; Minnesota, $98; Missouri, $72; Kansas, $77; Nebraska, $70; and Kentucky, $91.

All average acre values listed include the value of both land and buildings.

ILLINOIS LAND values declined about one per cent from last November to March and about five per cent from March 1953 to March 1954.

The recent prices for Illinois land are seven per cent off the peak reached in November 1952, but 165 per cent higher than in 1940.

Prices of good farms have held up better than prices for less productive land. In the best areas of the corn belt, good farms bring almost as much as they did a year ago. In these areas farmers and investors have plenty of cash and credit to take the farms at near-record prices. The market is much weaker in the fringe areas of the corn belt, in drouth areas, and in parts of the southeast and mountain areas.

COMPARED WITH one year before, the March survey found prices of farm land off three per cent in Iowa, four per cent in Ohio and Michigan, five per cent in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and eight per cent in Missouri. For the country as a whole, farm land values declined six per cent. As might be expected, declines were greater in the beef cattle states than in hog and dairy states.

Relatively few farms are being offered for sale. In the east north-central states (Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio), only 28 out of each 1,000 farms were sold in voluntary transfers in the year ending with March. This number is only half as man as were sold at the peak of sales activity in 1945-46.

Transfers to settle estates amounted to 13 farms per 1,000. Forced sales (foreclosures and transfers to avoid foreclosures) involved only one farm in 1,000.

MORE PURCHASERS use credit in buying farms in the year ending in March 1954 than in any other year since 1946. Only 29 per cent of the farms were bought for cash. The dollar volume of farm mortgages recorded in the fourth quarter of 1953 was greater than for any similar period on record.

USDA officials believe prices of farm land will show a further decline by next fall. Their reasons are acreage restrictions and expected lower prices for farm products. However, some increase in demand for farms has been noted since Januray 1.

Reports were given on how the club came out on the card party. The group gave a style show June 9 at St. Peter's Lutheran school for the Mothers' club.

The club has elected Betty Lou Shulse as their candidate for 4-H queen. Nominees for queen were Marlene Krambeer, Pat Henning, Betty Lou Shulse and Donna Seimro.

North Cook Rural Youth To Meet In Palatine Saturday

The next meeting of the North Cook Rural Youth will be held June 16 at 8:30 p.m. at the Palatine Legion hall in Palatine.

Don't Always Work Around That Gully, Why Not Use It?

Work in that gully or small ditch and shape it into a waterway. It can be seeded this summer. Apply eight to ten tons of manure or 30 0to 500 pounds of 8-8-8 fertilizer for each 100 feet of waterway two rods wide.

Maury Umbdenstock, technician for the North Cook county soil conservation district stated waterways shaped and worked up in the early summer (between late May and July 1) may be seeded to a stabilizing crop with good results.

BEST CROPS for this purpose are corn (2 to 3 Bu. per acre) or Sudan grass (15 to 25 pounds per acre). These crops should be clipped to a height of about 12 inches and the top removed.

Allow roots to remain until time for fall seeding, then make the seeding with a minimum of seed bed preparation, usually a light discing.

SEEDING CAN be done by broadcasting with an end gate seeder, gandy type fertilizer spreader or with a grain drill. If a drill is used lengthwise of the waterway, cross drilling or zig-zagging should be done to prevent water running down the drill row.

For more information on size or shape of waterway, or problems on waterways call Clearbrook 3-7656 or see Mr. Umbdenstock.

Farm, Home Bureau Leaders Fete June As Dairy Month

More than 700 farm and home bureau leaders from 90 Illinois counties are set to inaugurate a state-wide dairy promotion campaign during June dairy month.

They attended a series of ten area meetings May 24-28 at which they received instructions and promotional material. Eventually, 2,500 Illinois dairy farmers and their wives will take an active part in the campaign.

THE MEETING for this district conducted by the Illinois Agricultural Association was held at Geneva.

Farm and Home Bureau leaders will hold meetings at the county level this week and next, to which the dairy farmers from each township will be invited. Final plans will be made then, and the program will get underway.

Grocery store managers, dairy plant officials, school officials, representatives of chambers of commerce, homemakers, and other interested people will also attend the county meetings.

GROUPS COOPERATING in the campaign include: Illinois Chain Store Council, Illinois Retail Grocers Association, Illinois state chamber of commerce, Illinois dairy products association, state restaurant association, Parent Teachers association, and the Home bureau federation.

The purpose of the campaign is to move current milk production into consumption for better business for industry, better returns to dairy farmers, better health for consumers, and to get the federal government out of the dairy business.

A PART of total dairy production has gone into government storage in past months as a result of the price support program. That's what dairy farmers are seeking to avert by engaging in a dairy promotion program.

The American farm bureau federation is urging farm bureau in all 48 states and Puerto Rico to conduct similar campaigns this year.

In Illinois the promotion will take the form of posters and placards in stores, dairy recipe slips in grocery bags, and to school students, special taste-test demonstrations in stores, radio and newspaper advertising, talks before civic groups, and other local programs.

Hogs Provide Farmers With Largest Income

Sales of hogs last year brought Illinois farmers 489 million dollars —more than any other product. Thus Illinois farmers' number one market interest is the market for hogs. So let's look at this market and its prospects.

Every hog producer knows that hog prices have been unusually high for a year or more. Some producers believe thay have been too high. Others may agree later when they see prices tumble as a rsult of a sudden increase in production.

Hog prices in April and May averaged around $27 to $28 a hundred pounds—$2 to $4 higher than last year and about $5 above the expected normal for that time of year.

THE HOG-CORN ratio (bushels of corn equal in value to 100 pounds of hogs) was around 17 and 18 compared with a normal of around 12. At the same time hog prices averaged 128 per cent of parity in April and nearly the same in May.

Big reason for the abnormally high prices for hogs was restricted output. Prices were unsatisfactory two and three years ago. Procucers were first disappointed and then became discouraged. Many quit the hog business and sold their corn to Uncle Sam. Over a two-year period they cut production by one-fifth.

This drastic action brought a sharp rise in prices of hogs, far greater than most farmers expected. But the cost of this price increase was great — the loss of one-fifth of the market for pork. Now hog production is increasing, and late this summer producers will begin to buy back the market for pork.

USUALLY AUGUST brings the best prices for hogs, and many farmers race for this market. This year the race started earlier and is faster than usual. About one-fourth of the spring pig crop was farrowed before March 1 compared with less than one-fifth a year before. (Farrowings after March 1 are indicated to be only slightly greater than last year.)

Most of the February pigs will be ready for market in August. Some early winter pigs and large numbers of sows will be on the markets in June and July. Furthermore, average weights may be considerably greater than they were last summer. These facts, together with the high level of prices already attained, will restrict the usual summer price advance.

A recent report of the department of agriculture shows that prices of 180-to 200-pounds hogs usually reach their peak around August 1. The peak this year seems likely to come from July 1 to 15 or earlier.

Prices for heavier hogs hold up a little longer. The 200- to 240-pound hogs usually peak out early in August, with the 200- to 220-pound average slipping first. Peak prices for these weights will likely occur in July this year.

PRICES OF 240- to 270-pound barrows hold up longer than prices of the lighter weights. They have averaged highest about mid-August and have held up well until early September. This year the heavier hogs seem likely to reach their peak in July, with a moderate decline in August.

Hog prices this summer and fall may fool a lot of "experts." Some of them have forecast much more than the normal 25 per cent drop this fall. However, the spring crop seems to be spread out much better than usual, and this spread will permit market supplies to be distributed more uniformly over the next several months. Hogs may yet prove to be good property when the snow flies.

Try Atlas Sorgo As Good Silage Crop

If you want to harvest all of your corn as grain but still need some silage for beef cattle, you might like to try Atlas Sorgo.

H. G. Russell, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, reports a test in which the beef division compared Atlas sorgo with corn silage in a calf wintering program.

In two years, Russell says, the sorgo made 18 and 20 tons of silage an acre, while the corn made 13 and 14 tons.

TWO SILAGES were fed to similar lots of calves. Each lot was also fed daily 2 to 3 pounds of legume hay and a pound of soybean oil mean for each calf. Those calves on corn silage gained more rapidly (one and one-third pounds a head daily, compared with about a pound), but the total gain for each acre of silage was the same from Atlas sorgo silage as from corn silage.

Russell suggests that you can use Atlas sorgo silage to replace corn silage. But if you do you'll probably need to feed 1 to 2 pounds of corn to each calf daily in addition, along with hay and supplement, to get the same gains as you would get with corn silage.

SWEET SUDAN grass and soybeans will yield a big tonnage of silage from each acre. But for best results with them also you'll need to add 3 to 4 pounds of grain for each calf daily.

German Pre-Fab Moves From Riviera To Paris At Will

by BILL DILLINGHAM

For the man who wishes to own a home on the French Riviera, on the outskirts of Paris, in Southern Spain, and perhaps on the coast of Normandy, the new "pre-fabricated house" is the answer.

It is manufactured in Germany and guaranteed for twenty-five years. It is possible to put it up and take it down again at least fifty times without damaging any of the parts. Once the owner gets the hang of it, the home can be slapped together within just a couple of hours.

WHEN MOVING, say, from Normandy to the French Riviera, the unassembled house fits neatly into two separate packages. All screws, nuts, bolts, walls and windows go into the packages. There are several plants and a tree! that go along with it.

The only snag to this entire problem of moving, although the two packages are quite small and compact, is that each bundle weighs five-hundred pounds!

So this really isn't the kind of a pre-fabricated house that one may throw into a couple of suitcases with the intention of traveling south the minute the first winter breeze begins.

WHEN THE HOUSE is assembled it measures eight feet from floor to ceiling, and each wall is nine feet wide. Everything is made of a type of fiber except, of course, the windows. This accounts for the relatively light weight.

In a windstorm, however, this type of house isn't too secure. There are ropes that must be used like tent lines, to be pounded in with stakes. If a tree is nearby and the main lines are attached, chances are that one will survive a storm. If no such tree is available, though, the manual advises that everybody sleep on the windward side of the room.

THIS PRE-FABRICATED house makes an ideal wedding present. A father-in-law can always claim "I bought the kids their own home!" The price for the entire kit, complete with instruction book, diagrams and wrench, is a moderate four-hundred dollars!

There is a deluxe model that is equipped with tanks all around the outside for weighting down the house during windstorms. The tanks need only to be filled with water from somebody's garden hose. When moving, the removal of one plug is enough to drain the tanks. Nothing in the manual is mentioned about what the neighbors will say.

DESIGN FOR LIVING

Building - Remodeling - Improving

Cut Inventories While Construction Booms

The business adjustment is proceeding about as foreseen last fall. The central process is the reduction of stocks in the hands of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. These businessmen have been reducing their inventiories at a rate of about 100 million dollars a week. This process is in sharp contrast with that of a year ago, when businessmen were adding to their stocks of goods.

The important point is this: Factories do not run when sales are being made from inventories. And idle factories make idle workers. Selling from inventories also reduces employment in mining and transportation.

The change from inventory build-up a year ago to stock reduction this year put over two million people out of work. This number is more than equal to the increase in unemployment over the very low of a year ago.

ONE OTHER important adjustment is taking place: Individuals are paying off their installment debts faster than they are contracting new ones. Thus both individuals and businesses are getting into a position to increase their purchases. These purchases, in turn, will provide employment.

The reduction in inventories is perhaps a little greater than was expected last fall. On the other hand, the general economic situation is as strong as was forecast, or stronger.

Total personal income in 1954 has been equal to that received in 1953. Disposable income—what is left after taxes—has been running one or two per cent more than that of 12 months before.

THE CONSTRUCTION business, which shrinks severely in depressions, is having a good year. Home construction may reach 1.1 million this year, according to recent indications. This number of homes would be a little more than were built last year, and the second largest on record. Better values and easier credit terms are helping sales of new homes. Better values are available because many workmen are giving more service for a day's pay than they did last year. Easier credit is available because the government has shifted its policy and because people are putting more money into savings accounts, building and loan associations and insurance companies, and these funds must be invested.

Most other types of construction are scheduled for boom levels again this year. This trend is shown by the volume of contracts that have already been signed. For the first four months of this year, construction contract awards are reported to be 8 per cent greater than the record high of those months last year. These tabulations are made by the F. W. Dodge Corporation, well-known construction news analysts. Their calculations apply to 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains. Figures for the western states would probably show a greater increase.

THESE AND OTHER reports from private sources confirm the results of government surveys of building and construction planned for this year.

Of course, activity in a few lines of business is low and shows no signs of picking up. This condition is normal in any rapidly changing and progressing economy. In the same way several new industries are expanding very rapidly. Some people, and some firms, are in the process of changing from shrinking to expanding industries.

But add it all up and you will find that business has seldom been better than in recent months.

Downers Grove Cuts Off Water Supply To Outlying Subdivision

Water service to the Belmont Highwood district was cut off without incident by Downers Grove.

Only one curious onlooker stood by as a water department employee turned off the valve and removed the meter.

The cut-off of the water supply to approximately 140 homes in the Belmont area came after the village council had tried unsuccessfully to renew a contract that had expired Nov. 30 of last year.

An estimated 560 persons are in the area concerned. A national survey shows that each person uses approximately 50 gallons of water per day.

Using this figure water consumption in the Belmont area would be roughly 28,000 gallons per day. The sole pump could produce a maximum of 93,000 gallons per day.

The village, under the old contract, was supplying water at a rate of approximately 40 cents per thousand gallons. According to available figures, the BH water service district was charging patrons $1.25 per thousand gallons for the first 10,000 gallons used.

Insulation Shorts

The biggest heat loss in winter and the greatest heat infiltration in summer comes through the walls of a home. Heating and air conditioning experts estimate that 40 per cent more heat enters through the walls in summer and escapes in winter than it does through the roof.

Engineers use "K" factors to measure the insulating value of various building materials. The "K" factor is the amount of heat, measured in BTUs, that will pass through a square foct of material an inch thick in one hour, to raise the temperature on one side of the material one degree F. higher than the temperature on the other side.

Burglarize Station In Barrington

Thieves broke into the Brandt super-service station at 136 West Northwest highway, Barrington, and stole a radio, electric irons, and other merchandise. They moved an iron safe toward a door, but abandoned it. Police believe they were frightened away before completing the job.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window in a rear door.

On Sub Cruise

Navy Lt. Don E. Helbling, husband of Mrs. Marie B. Helbling of 601 E. Clarendon, Arlington Heights, aboard the submarine USS Sea Lion, is on a two-week naval reserve training cruise.

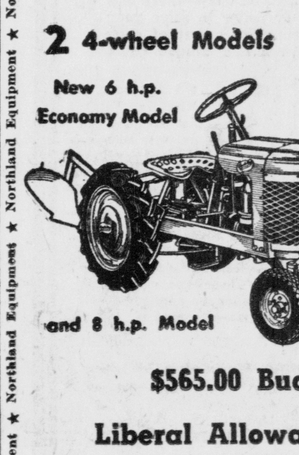

These cruises, from naval operating base at Norfolk, Va., are conducted to supplement the academic training carried on in the organized submarine units with a practical working knowledge of the operations of submarines. This balance of instructions is designed to enable members of the naval reserve to assume regular navy billets in the submarine service.

In Missouri

Pvt. Raymond C. Bitter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bitter, Box 165, Palatine, is undergoing basic infantry training at Fort Leonard Wood with a unit of the 6th armored division.

Upon completion of the eight-week infantry training cycle with the famed "Super Sixth," he will receive a leave before beginning eight weeks of advance basic training, either at Fort Leonard Wood or another army training installation.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. How are the invitations to the second marriage of a young widow worded?

A. In the same way as the usual invitation, in the name of her parents or nearest relatives, as "Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Mary Johnson Carter, etc." You will note, of course, that the full name of the bride is used.

Q. How is the suffix "third" correctly written after a name — as "3rd," "third" or "III"?

A. Either "3rd" or "third" is the popular way. While the Roman numerals are not incorrect, they are considered suggestive of a dynasty.

Q. Is it proper to take more than one kind of food on the fork at a time?

A. Never; take only one piece of meat or one forkful of potatoes at a time.

Q. Is it proper for a man dining in a restaurant with his wife to rise when another couple stops at their table for a few words?

A. A man must always rise when a woman stops at the table. And thoughtful women do not stop at restaurant tables, if they can help it.

Q. Should gifts that are brought to a birthday party be opened by the recipient immediately, or left until after the party?

A. It shows more appreciation to open the gifts immediately.

Q. When serving a fruit juice as a first course at the dinner table, where is this glass placed?

A. On the place plate — not with the waterglass.

Q. May a girl ask a service man, who is a stranger in her city and who is coming to visit her, to stay for a few days in her home, or should she arrange hotel accommodations for him?

A. If she is living with her parents, this is perfectly proper. In fact, it would be inhospitable to send him to a hotel if you have a spare room available.

Q. When drinking a cocktail that has a piece of fruit in it, such as orange, lemon or pineapple, is it proper to eat the fruit?

A. Although it is not usually done, it is quite all right to eat it, if you wish. Put the rind back into the emptied glass.

Q. The leaves of my garden are turning yellow and brown. Will this harm the plant?

A. Your pinks are diseased — afflicted with anthracnose. This kills the branches. The usual remedy is to spray with Bordeau mixture which usually clears up all but severe cases.

Q. Where can I purchase the shrub known as Edgeworthia?

A. This shrub is of Asiatic origin —you should not be able to buy it in the Chicago area because it will not stand this climate. It is just another reason why you should know your grower. We have seen plants on the counters of temporary vendors, of varieties utterly unsuited to the Chicagoland climate. To buy such stock is a waste of one's money.

If you have any further questions regarding your gardening problems, please write to me in care of this newspaper.

How To Plant For Summer Color In Your Garden

by OTTO H. AMLING

When spring ends it means the coincident ending of our bright spring flowers — the early-blooming perennials. And while such later-blooming perennials as lilies, phlox and daisies try their best to keep the garden bright, it really requires the brilliant annuals to maintian garden gaiety.

Annuals may be started from seed, in the home-greenhouse or outside in a hot or cold flat. They also can be started outdoors, unprotected, in the soil after frost-free weather arrives. But each of these procedures has its drawbacks. So even the most expert gardeners find it advisable to buy their annuals in wooden flats in seedling form and simply set out the pre-grown plants in the garden for quick maturity and blooming.

THIS METHOD — setting out pre-grown annual flowering plants —has just one drawback. You can't select the seed yourself. You can't be sure the seedlings are grown from the finest quality seed, the sort that insures flowers of prize-winning size, color, and fragrance. So, as usual, you must know your grower, just as you must know your jeweler when you buy a diamond.

Annuals, well-grown from choice seed, produce seedlings with heavy roots that are well equipped to "eat" heavily and consequently to produce large, brilliantly colored flowers. This is true above all of petunias but it applies definitely to all other annuals — even the rugged zinnia group.

FLOWERING ANNUALS are many in kind and they fall into varying classifications. For example, if you are going to be away during part of the summer there are varieties of annuals that say: "Go ahead! I can get along without watering." And if you have shady grounds there are annuals that can do with very little sunshine. Still others will flower handsomely even in poor soil. So, whatever you situation, tell your grower your needs and he will make appropriate suggestions.

You also have a choice of plant heights: dwarf, medium and tall plants for edging or a medium height mass or background giants, there are annuals to fill the bill.

* * *

PERHAPS you have a bulb bed of spring flowering bulbs such as tulips, crocus, hyacinths, scilla, daffodils and such. As spring ends, these beauties are through for the year —so here again annuals come to the rescue. You can set seedling annuals in between the foliage of the withering spring flowers and soon you have your garden blazing with color again.

Here are a few questions which are commonly asked:

Q. How soon can I cut down the leaves of the spring-blooming bulbs?

A. After the foliage has died and dried. If you cut sooner, it will kill the bulb or at least prevent it from forming a flower inside itself for next spring's bloom-

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Inside Wash-Up Room

ON THE farm, there usually is a building available for the installation of a wash-up house—a building within another, so to speak.

Glance at the illustration, and the simple construction of such a private room within the barn, machine shed, garage, or back porch will be evident. Actually, all that's needed is a framework of 2 by 4-inch lumber, spaced 16" apart to form the boundaries of the wash-up room, and some panels of ¼" Tempered Presdwood.

The panels are easily nailed into place to form the room within a larger one. They are moisture-resistant and will stand considerable abrasion.

A shower may be made from a hogshead barrel and piping, as shown, or by a similar method which could well include heated water.

Captain Kidd Knew His Woods; Stored Loot In Oak Chests

For all his recklessness, the fabulous Capatin Kidd appears to have been an extremely careful fellow when it came to stashing his loot. He relied heavily on the strength and durability of oak, characteristics which have made that wood the favorite for residential flooring.

A vast treasure trove reputedly was buried by Kidd on Oak Island, Nova Scotia. Evidence of the treasure's existence first came to light in 1796. Eager seachers began digging.

Ten feet down they struck a layer of oak flooring planks. Continuing to a depth of 90 feet, they found sucessive layers of oak planks every 10 feet. They gave up at 96 feet when water from an underground channel flooded the pit.

Rushing water also defeated several more attempts to reach the treasure over the next 100 years. At length, borings in the pit revealed three oak chests 150 feet down. But the treasure hunters again were thwarted by water. Several additional efforts, the last in 1948, all proved futile.

Libertyville To Look Into Lake Forest Water Supply

Mayor Francis Berry told the Libertyville village board that Lake Forest has "indicated a willingness" to investigate an extension of its water system with the view of furnishing water for the Libertyville area.

Berry said talks with Lake Forest officials revealed the North Shore community is currently surveying its water system, and a plan to furnish water for the Libertyville - Mundelein area would modify any decisions made in Lake Forest.

Berry was told that residents of the Half Day-Prairie View area already have consulted with Lake Forest officials about purchasing water. Residents of Half Day and Prairie View are currently investigating possible incorporation of that area.

Mayor Berry pointed out that a hookup with Lake Forest would furnish an unlimited supply of Lake Michigan water for this area.

Shrub Pruning Easy For Home Owners

Pruning shrubs is a simple task that anyone can do. And right after they bloom is the best time to do it — especially the shrubs that produce flowers on old wood, says Farm Adviser Carl F. Mees.

Spirea, snowball, weigelia, mock-orange, forsythia, lilac, beauty bush, and deutzia bloom on old wood. Later blooming shrubs, such as P. G. and Snow Hill hydrangea and dwarf pink spirea, which bloom on new wood, can be pruned in the fall or early in the spring.

HERE ARE THE simple steps in pruning given by H. R. Kemmerer, University of Illinois, College of Agriculture landscaping specialist.

First, take out about half of the old wood at ground level. Old wood is darker than new. Cut it off as close to the ground as possible unless you need to save some new branches that are low on the old wood.

Next, cut wood out of the top. Cut about a quarter of an inch above a bud, and slant the cut. Cutting above the buds will give the pruned shrub an irregular, natural shape rather than a flat-topped look.

Kemmerer emphasizes the need to cut at an angle. This little stub will die, he explains, and the slanting cut will drain off the water. A straight cut will catch water and encourage disease.

Prefinished Oak Flooring

Oak flooring now can be obtained from lumber dealers in completely prefinished stock. Ready for use immediately after being installed, it is available in a choice of four grades.

The New England States by 1956 are expected to consume an additional 200,000 tons of coal annually.

New Singer Building In Des Plaines

Plans are in the process of being completed for the construction of a new 15,000 sq. ft. office building by the Singer Sewing Machine Co. on Miner st. just east of Garland in Des Plaines.

The company hopes to start construction on the one-story modern building this summer with completion being tentatively set for the first of the year.

The structure would house Singer's collection department for this area.

Declines $100,000 For Ore Field Claim

Ron Timroth, 22 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Timroth of Des Plaines, turned down $100,000 for a few acres of mountain land he staked as a mining claim. A senior majoring in geology at Colorado college in Colorado Springs, he was prospecting for uranium and found Molybdenum, a heat resisting metal used in jet engines and industrial machinery. It is so rare that this country is "crying" for it.

Timroth was prospecting during his spare time near Westcreek, Colo., and was looking for uranium. He thought he had it when he got a "reading" from some blackish rock. He hurried to Cripple Creek for some blasting powder and returned to explode the ore body.

Following the blasting Timroth found some large black crystals, something like graphite. He then staked his claim to about 60 acres of public land.

When he took his ore samples to the Climax Corp., which operates a molybdenum mine in Colorado, the samples were so rich that the people there wouldn't believe him.

However, when it was shown the ore was found and the three land claims had been made by Timroth, $100,000 was offered for the claim rights.

Timroth declined the offer and stated that he can develop the claim himself for about $50,000. He intends to raise that money by leaving for Circle, Alaska where he will prospect for a gold or urainium mine so he can find enough to develop the molybdenum deposit.

From Helen Robinson Will, 5555 Sheridan rd., Chicago, for a hearing on the proposed reclassification of 136 acres located on the northeast corner of Oakton st., Higgins rd. and Busse rd., in Elk Grove Township, from a farming district to a light industry district.

Arlington Owner Denied Zoning On Higgins Road

Anderson, of Arlington Heights, for the reclassification of 1½ acres located on the southwest side of Higgins rd., approximately ½ mile northwest of Elmhurst rd., in Elk Grove Township, from a farming district to one zoned for business.

Builders In Unincorporated Areas Must Be Sure Of Water And Sewer System Before Permit Can Be Granted

Prospective builders and buyers of homes in rural and unincorporated areas where no public water supply and sewage disposal systems are available should be warned that they are faced with a serious problem, according to an announcement by the Cook county clean streams committee.

THE COUNTY zoning ordinance provides that a building permit in an unincorporated area shall be issued only after provision has been made for a safe water supply and sewage disposal facilities designed in accordance with standards approved by the county health department. Many incorporated communities not yet served by public systems have the same requirement. The FHA requires similar approval of plans and specifications for private sanitary facilities.

William N. Erickson, president of the county board, urges all home builders, architects, contractors, plumbers and well-drillers, and all real estate developers, to obtain, free of charge, a bulletin prepared by the sanitary engineering division of the Cook county department of public health located at 737 S. Wolcott Ave., Chicago 12. This illustrated bulletin contains complete information and specifications for wells, septic tanks and seepage systems.

THERE ARE STRINGENT requirements as to where a septic tank and its tile field for disposal of the liquid effluent may be located with reference to the lot lines and to any well. The materials and manner of construction are specified. For a single family of seven persons or less, the septic tank must have a minimum capacity of 500 gallons. For larger families, the capacity must be increased 75 gallons for each person in excess of seven.

In addition to detailed specifications for the seepage system and the trenches in which the tile lines are laid, the bulletin is accompanied by an outline of the procedure to be followed in the "percolation test" to determine the suitability of the soil for a subsurface seepage system. This test, which must be made by a qualified engineer, consists of digging a number of post holes in the area where it is proposed to establish the seepage field. There should be at least one test hole per acre, dug to the depth at which it is proposed to lay the tile — generally 18 to 24 inches.

AFTER THE HOLES have been thoroughly moistened, each is filled with six inches of water. The average time required for this water to seep away determines the required area in the bottom of the seepage trench system, depending also upon the number of bedrooms in the dwelling. If more than six hours are required for the water to fall six inches, the soil is unsuitable for a seepage system. In such a case, the building permit will not be issued unless a more satisfactory system is provided for disposing of the flow from a septic or settling tank.

Appeal Board Reopens Rezoning Of 7 Acres Near Pal-Waukee Airport

A public hearing was held by Cook County Board of Appeals April 23, 1954, in the Arlington Heights village hall, on a proposal to reclassify approximately 7 acres of land adjacent to the west of the Pal-Waukee Airport on the north side of Palatine rd from the F (Farming) District to the I-1 (Light Industry) District.

At the request of the airport officials the hearing will be reopened Friday, July 2, 2 p.m. in room 1707, 130 N. Wells, Chicago.

New Deer Grove Subdivision Given Approval By County

The plat of Richter's Indian Woods Subdivision, located on County Line road ¾ mile west of Quintens rd. in Palatine township, meets with all county subdivision requirements, the county map deparment advised the county board at Thursday's meeting.

Percolation tests made on the property indicate that septic tanks can be used for sewage disposal in the subdivision without danger, the board was told.

Values Beyond "How Much"

When considering the phrase, "Please omit flowers," it is well to think of the reaction of Judas when Mary anointed the feet of Jesus with the costly ointment: "Why," asked Judas, "was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?" Flowers symbolize Christian sympathy and fellow-feeling. Like the oils that were "wasted" on Jesus, they stand for values that go far beyond consideration of "how much?" and "what for?"

Two way traffic on a one-way street is what truckers face who attempt to travel over N. Hickory st., Arlington Heights. Unless it is repaired soon there may not be any street there at all—just a no-man's land.

Bensenville's varsity baseball team appeared strong early in the season, in spite of losing most of its games, with Palatine an early victim, 13-5. One of the close games was a 2-1 loss to Wauconda. The squad did not come up to the performances of the Bisons of other years, however.

Social Security Office At Des Plaines P.O. Open Two Hours A Week

If you were 65 before April 1, 1952, and are now working for less money than previously, you should check with your local social security office at 5306 W. Lawrence ave.

People still working for $3600 a year or more are unaffected, but workers earning less than this amount who were working overtime and are no longer doing so, or who are now working less than full time may find they should file claim even though they will continue to work and earn more than $75 a month.

In addition, all workers or self-employed people past their 65th birthday who are no longer working should file claim for social security benefits. Benefits are payable for any months after age 65 in which wages do not exceed $75.

Old age and survivors insurance claims may be filed with the social security representative, Richard J. Burns, any Tuesday, downstairs in the Des Plaines post office. Office hours are from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Local Attorney Gives Account Of Recent Visit To Haile Selassie's Ethiopia

A visit by Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, to Chicago this week was of particular interest to Attorney Aribert F. Wild, who recently spent several months in Eritrea, which is federated with Ethiopia.

Mr. Wild, accompanied by his wife, made the trip by boat from Cairo down the Red Sea to Massawa, the new seaport of Ethiopia. As a recognized specialist in constitutional and international law, he was asked to draft legislation to implement the new constitution of Eritrea in accordance with the resolution of the United Nations awarding Eritrea to Ethiopia.

Previous to World War II, Eritrea was an Italian colony. The constitution of Eritrea is based on principles of democratic government. It is autonomous but federated with Ethiopia under the sovereignty of the Ethiopian Crown. The legislative power is exercised by an assembly of electors, who must have attained the age of 30.

The chief executive is elected by the assembly through secret ballot. His cabinet consists of appointed secretaries. The judiciary consists of a Supreme Court and other courts, which will apply the various systems of law in force in Eritrea. All judges are appointed by the chief executive on the recommendation of the president of the assembly.

THE WILDS traveled nine days in a boat filled with Pilgrims on their way to Mecca which is in Saudi Arabia. Their trip was interesting although a little arduous at times. Mr. Wild was reluctant to say much about his experiences, but on the plea of the reporter that readers of Paddock Publications knew very little about Eritrea, he consented to recount a few of his experiences.

The civic law in Ethiopia is based on religious principles, which reflects itself in criminal law. It clearly states that a wrong committed shall be judged by the educational standard of the person who committed a wrong (St. Luke 12-47). Thus an educated man who had wronged a second educated man, could be punished severely, while a person of the lowest class who had committed the same crime, would be lightly punished.

The religion called Coptic, is a Christian church which has been in existence since 400 and its followers are known as Egyptian Christians. The country was formerly under Egyptian rule.

The official language of Ethiopia is "Amharic" but there are 14 languages spoken in addition to many dialects. Ethiopia is made up of 12 provinces whose tribal heads have representation in the federal assembly.

While the heads of the Ethiopian governmental departments are of that nationality, the technical advisors are largely foreigners — English, Italian, Belgium, Swiss, Egyptian, Indian, American and Swedish.

The automobiles and trucks used are mostly of German and Italian make. The Germans are making considerable progress in the reconquering of the Arab markets. They are extending long term credits and are favored by the general Anti-British feeling in all of the near countries.

COMMUNISM, as such, is not known in the Arab states, although there are uprisings of the natives which are wrongly attributed to Communism. They are merely the incidents of the development of a national and independent spirit of the people of the Arab states.

Saudi Arabia, with Mecca, the Holy City of the Moslems, is a country where the Koran, the revelations of Mohammed, is the only source for rules and regulations of human conduct.

The use of alcohol is fully prohibited in Saudi Arabia. Even foreign representatives who are accredited to that country are not permitted to indulge in intoxicating liquors. They are prohibited to receive, possess or distribute any alcohol. Any violation will have, in sequence, the recall of the foreign representative from that country.

The holy city of Mecca is not accessible to people who are not of the Mohammed faith.

The Red Sea is shark infested and inasmuch as it has not been charted for many years, and due to frequent coral reefs, great care must be exercised in navigation.

HAILE SELASSIE is of slight stature, only about 5 feet high, but is very dignified. He is of fine features and prophetic expression and often appears in uniform of a general. He speaks some English and French fluently, but prefers the language of his tribe, which is "Amharic."

Anyone who has dealings with Haile Selassie must carefully maintain his protocol and dignity. He cannot drive his own car, open a door or even stoop to tie his shoe laces. There are always attendants about to do such things.

The people of Ethiopia, with the exception of a few tribes, are of the Semitic race. They are especially progressive and intelligent. Agriculture is the main source of livlihood of residents of Ethiopia. They raise a great many soybeans and are shipping a lot of coffee to America.

Wild would not guess as to the purpose of the emperor's visit to this country. However, he recently granted to United States air and navy bases in the harbor of Massawa on the Red Sea and may be interested in attracting American capital to his country and, of course, expects to take home assurances of monetary aid.

Mr. Wild attended a reception for Haile Selassie at the Sherman Hotel Tuesday.

School For Mexican-Americans Opens In Des Plaines June 28

The Migrant School for Mexican-American children, sponsored by the Northwest Suburban branch of the American Association of University Women, will start its seventh year on June 28, 1954. It will be held mornings from nine o'clock until twelve, five days a week, for four consecutive weeks. The 1954 Migrant Chairman is Mrs. Harold Bishop and her co-chairman is Mrs. Arthur Dion.

The AAUW has the use of the old North School for its project. Two buses will transport the children to and from the farms each day. Faith Enke, a Park Ridge resident, a Spanish major at Monmouth College, will again be one of the social workers. Raul Muniz, a Mexican-American from Texas, a ministerial student, will also repeat his social work of last year at the school. These workers start visiting the migrant families at the farms two weeks before the opening of the school. They enroll the children and acquaint the new families with the school's aims. They stay one week after the close of school to further integrate the school and family. They also take charge of the school program held for the parents on the last night of the school.

THE CHILDREN will again be divided into three major classifivanced, 10 and over. These major groups are again divided into two or three groups as needed.

The teaching of English will again be stressed. An extensive handicraft program is planned, also music and dancing will again be taught. Playground activity and the serving of fruit juice and cookies will be a daily procedure.

The Thrift Shop (rummage sales) will be open for business on Thursdays, the same day as the Junior Woman's Club Baby Clinic. This makes it easier for the mothers, for they can have their babies receive medical attention and shop at the Thrift Shop all on the same day. Also this gives the mothers a chance to observe the classes in session.

A DENTAL CLINIC, staffed by Dr. Kenneth Laird and Dr. Harold Pellett, will examine the children's teeth.

Mrs. Bishop and her staff look forward to a successful 1954 Migrant School. A great deal of the success depends on the cooperation of the community, the generosity of the Des Plaines Board of Education, the willingness of the volunteer workers from many organizations, and the dependability of the Maine high school students who give of their time each summer.

Braille Courses Open To Teachers

The opening at Wheeling next September of a school for the instruction of the blind children of this area has caused its sponsors to investigate the source of teachers trained to teach Braille. There is an acute need of teachers in special education especially Braille.

This summer the University of Cincinnati is offering a special course for teachers of blind children who function in public school programs developed for the education of blind with sighted children — such will be operated in Wheeling.

There will undoubtedly be more rooms needed for the blind youngsters in this area as many more blind children are now pre-school. Parents of the blind urge that teachers give the courses offered this summer careful consideration.

The program will commence July 26, 1954 and extend through August 27, 1954, and consists of one workshop and two courses, open alike to undergraduate and graduate students, offering 8 semester hours for all three:

Workshop in the education of the blind: a practical, realistic approach to the problems, techniques, methods and available materials in this field of Special Education. Observation of teaching blind children who are members of a regular class group. (2 or 4 credits)

The Braille System and related methods of instruction:—A mastery of the Braille System as the basic tool in the education of the blind. Teaching procedures and methods. Correlated with the work of the Demonstration School. (2 credits)

Diseases of the eye and their educational and social implications:—The anatomy and physiology of the eye. Lectures and discussions on the social effects of blindness. Screening techniques and visual efficiency. (2 credits)

Scholarships of $100.00 are available to qualified teachers who are interested in enrolling in this program of study on a full time basis.

Applications should be addressed to: Miss Georgie Lee Abel, American Foundation for the Blind, Inc., 15 West Sixteenth Street, New York 11, N. Y.

Those who would like to know more about the courses, and obtain literature, may contact Mrs. Patricia Corts, 1017 North Hickory Avenue, Arlington Heights —Clearbrook 3-6044.

THE FENCE POST

Safe Driving

The Arlington Heights Lions club is certainly to be commended for its vigorous traffic safety program. The Herald, too, deserves high praise for awarding so much space to a crucial problem.

The history of the highway in America is littered with the accumulated wreckage of 50 years of accidents. It is strewn with the bodies of more than a million people killed. It has seen over 40 million injured and crippled, and economic waste in the billions of dollars.

LAST YEAR alone there were more than two million casualties recorded on our streets and highways. Over 38,000 deaths occurred and 2,140,000 were injured — the worst automobile accident toll in the nation's history. One American was killed every 14 minutes. Two people have been injured in traffic accidents since you started reading this letter.

The most significant and most tragic of all the facts is that most of the traffic accidents could have been avoided. Excessive, unnecessary speed was the most dangerous driving mistake in 1953, accounting for a third of those killed and 600,000 injuries. Three out of four accidents happened in clear weather on dry roads. Ninty per cent of the vehicles involved were apparently in good condition.

WHY THIS LETTER and what place the reiteration of these statistics? Simply because it may be true the recent Lion's safety campaign and the continuing cooperation of the Herald have produced a measure of saner, safer driving in our community. Truthfully, I doubt if as I watch the cars speed past my home where my children and those of my neighbors play. Not only do these drivers arouse almost uncontrollable wrath, but the apathy of each of us individually, of civic organizations and local government is cause for despair.

The racing season is approaching and with it the seasonal advent of some of the most maniacal driving and drivers I've ever witnessed. These visitors and guests in our community should be handled with a severity which will compell them to realize that we in Arlington Heights want and will have a safe community. Local area drivers, as well, should be forced to realize that this community, at least, demands safe driving habits.

Again I congratulate the Lions and The Herald, as well as the local police force (within the limits of their too limited capacity), in the effort to make our community a safer place to live. However, I hasten to add that this alone has not and will not be enough. Last year, too, the Jaycees put scotchlite on bumpers for those interested enough to improve the safety of their driving. But this is a problem, national in scope which must be dealt with on the local level; it is a problem far too big to be solved or even greatly improved by one group or various groups working their own separate projects.

This, it seems to me, is a deadly serious problem which should command the united support of all organizations and groups in this community. Let us declare a moratorium on the traffic toll by banding together as a community in the role of a united vigilante. Who will take the lead?

A Hot Potato

A few weeks ago, while visiting in Palatine, I said I expected to be transferred to Moline. It did not work out that way. I am in a whole lot hotter place than Moline or Palatine. I have been transferred to North Carolina.

They have an issue here that is very hot, segregation in schools. All you can hear is this topic and they are all upset about the Supreme Court decision. Every day you can read in the papers what they are going to do about it.

The Southern Methodist churches had a convention with this same topic, "What are we going to do about secregation in churches?" This really is a hot potato. Being from the North, I have to be on the sideline and not get into any of their problems.

Help To Cancer

All those connected with the American Cancer Society, Ill., Div., Northwest Suburban Chapter join with me in expressing our sincere appreciation for the cooperation and support which you and your papers gave to the 1954 Cancer Crusade.

It was extremely helpful, and as a result the 1954 Cancer Crusade has made wonderful progress and feel sure that when it is over the goal set will be reached.

The American Cancer Society operates on the exceedingly low percentage of 2.39 per cent for administration. This is only possible because of the high percentage of volunteer workers. The remaining 97.6 per cent of the dollar is being used to maintain and further the American Cancer Society three-point program of Research-Education-and Service.

In participating in this 1954 Cancer Crusade, we feel sure that you and your publications performed a most valuable service to your community and to mankind in general.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

Why in the world we ever chose to live in this unhealthy, unpredictable and wholly unreasonable climate I'll never know! Of all the places in the U. S., where the sun shines most of the time, the temperature is mild and happy weather prevails, we have to settle in a town in which you are compelled to listen each morning to the weather forecast to find out whether to put on ski pants or shorts!

The early settlers must have had holes in their heads to have wanted to stop here. I'll bet they were hiking around Lake Michigan during one of our unbearable July heat waves and just collapsed on the beach. Then of course, by the time they came to, it was cold and raining and they all had flu, sinus trouble, asthma and arthritis, and were too weak to go on. That's my theory and I'm going to stick to it.

THIS TIRADE is a result of our latest bout with the most promising of Chicago and suburban ailments loosely referred to as "intestinal flu." There we were, basking in the grand and glorious sunshine, thinking naively that just because the mercury stood at 90 degrees for a few days it was summer, when our crazy, mixed up weather blew in a cold front and caught us with our bathing suits on.

It was Saturday afternoon of Memorial Day week end that Megan's trouble began. She came in from playing, complaining of a headache, stomache ache and sore throat. By evening she still had all the aches, plus a temperature of 103 and frequent regurgitation. I called Dr. Canmann and, as usual, he calmed me down first, then got the facts and finally assured me that no it wasn't scarlet fever, polio or appendicitis, but requested that I call him in the morning.

Following his instructions, I gave her aspirin to take down the fever, however, we were up at ½ hour intervals all night long and by morning were exhausted. I called doctor and reported no improvement, and he said he's be over to take a look.

NOW, DESPITE THE FACT that she was very weak, very feverish and to all appearances doubled up with stomach pains, as soon as I told Megan that Dr. Canmann was coming over to see her, she insisted upon having her hair combed and her pajamas changed! Then to top it all off, when he arrives and starts examining her, does she act sick? No, she has to act coy.

I could only sit by and hope that his knowledge of female behavior was as sound as his knowledge of medicine, and that he would disregard this brilliant performance as being at all indicative of her real condition. Upon completing the examination, he concluded she had just what was going around, a form of intestinal disturbance that would probably linger on for a couple of days, and advised us to keep her quiet, keep her temperature down and offer her small and infrequent amounts of liquid. With the added cheerful note that this sort of thing often runs through a family, he left. Megan visibly slumped, Daddy went back to hanging screens with Bridget following, and I plopped into a chair, tired but relieved that the malady was no worse.

IT REALLY TOOK about four days for her to feel up to par again and be able to eat three meals a day. So far none of the rest of us has caught it, but I hold no high hopes, since today is cold and rainy and I notice that the forecast for tomorrow is for fair and warmer—here we go again.

Oh my! How stupid of me—I do remember now why we chose to live here—the lovely change of seasons, of course!

My love,
Patty

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

This is the time of the year when students all over the country are straining toward vacation. They are all mentally settling down with a good book, preferably comic, planning a vacation, or just flopping around the yard.

All of the young are laboring under the illusion that vacations are their own inventions and designed for their own benefit. The old folks are supposed to have given all that stuff up years ago.

The last days of school arrive and youth slops over into the house, sprawls in a chair, looks at mother expectantly, and says, "Entertain me." Huh.

This month of June brides and graduates makes us feel the weight of our years. Each time we read of one of the children we have dandled on our knee getting married, we totter mentally. When some child graduates whose baby shower we had attended, we reel.

And when that time comes that we must attend these functions for our own, we shall retire to a cave somewhere and become very, very old and extremely eccentric. We will be entitled to it.

We have always wondered what a green thumb was when the term was applied to someone who messes around in a garden. We wondered so hard that we thought we would become the world's most outstanding gardener this year.

Even in the most inclement weather, which is all we have had, we were on our knees in the dirt sticking little things into the cold earth. Our thumbs may have looked mud colored, but we knew how green they really were.

Well, we have only this to say, gardening takes too much time. Each morning after all and sundry have taken off for their respective places of business, we rush madly out hunting vainly for magnificent sprays of bloom. We were so certain we could raise things that looked just like the seed catalogs. What we have brought to fruition is one sickly painted daisy, lots and lots of old sad iris, and one measly petunia. The thing has left us with a frustration complex from which we shall never recover.

The good thing about June is that at least all the leaves are out and we no longer have to sit and look at all those stupid bare branches. This is our silver lining for today.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELS

Custom has made June the month of commencement and brides; but graduation and marriage could very well take place on New Year's day, since both are beginnings of a new life, a complete breaking off from many old habits and the forming of new.

The graduating student is about to begin a new experience where he must assume new responsibilities. A new bride or groom leaves the sheltered protection of home to start a new family and assume responsibilities which will change his or her whole life.

STUDENTS GRADUATING from high school or college are better fitted to make a living than a successful marriage. A girl going into marriage not knowing how to cook, sew, keep house or raise children is in about the same predicament as though she were about to jump into a swimming pool not knowing how to swim. A boy, going into marriage not knowing how to budget his money, make repairs about the home and care for children is in the same spot. After marriage, 95 per cent of all boys and girls find themselves in the middle of the pool yelling for help.

Since most parents do not teach their children what they should know about marriage, a course in marriage should be part of every high school curriculum. Mere discussion of marital, sex and adjustment problems is not enough. The course should be compulsory and in two parts: home repair, home economics and the duties of fatherhood for boys; cooking, sewing, housework, childraising, home health hints and economics for girls.

UNFORTUNATELY, church and home play a small part today in teaching children their moral and spiritual obligations of marriage. This, too, should have a place in the high school curriculum.

Competent teachers with good characters and personalities teaching such courses in high school could have a beneficial affect on young folks about to enter the struggle for ecomomic, marital and spiritual achievment. Sending young folks into marriage without proper instruction and training is like asking a man to build a good house with inferior training and equipment.

CAN YOU TELL ME

How to Clean Cast Stone Window Trim & Sills?

This stone was erected approximately 25 years ago. Also how can you clean efflorescence from face brick?

To remove efflorescence from brick or plaster, make up a solution composed of equal parts of hydrochloric acid or muriatic acid and water. Allow this to remain on the surface for four hours, then wash the surface off with clean water and, of course, allow it to dry thoroughly before repainting. Sometimes a wash with muriatic acid will clean cast stone. You might try washing the surface with it and see what happens: however, be careful to keep the acid off your hands and also keep it off any painted surface. After the cleaning has been done, rinse the surface with clean water and allow it to dry.

Newsstand Of The Week

Wood Dale expansion is aptly proved at Niehaus' delicatessen where Mr. and Mrs. Carl Niehaus opened an ice cream store in 1941, expanded to a delicatessen, then built a new building next door where he moved in 1950. He is now handling a variety of merchandise, a full time job seven days a week, for "both he and the missus."

Three children are in the family, with son Herbert now a lieutenant with the navy. He's an instructor presently stationed in England. Daughter Eleanor is a school teacher in Downers Grove. A ten year old daughter is at home.

Mr. Niehaus operated a bird and fish supply store in Chicago for 19 years before moving to Wood Dale, where his store is located at 272 W. Irving Park rd. The store is one of the 58 newsstands selling over 7,000 copies of Paddock Publications each week.

We will make an appointment to show it to you at your convenience.

If you are looking for a fine home at an attractive price, you would do well to see this one. Conditions make it imperative that this home be sold promptly.

$20,750 BRICK RANCH

Here is a South side location that has eye appeal as well as value. A 16'x20' living room carpeted, a birch cabinet kitchen with eating space for the whole family, 3 good sized bedrooms, a completely floored attic for storage, and a ventilating fan too for these hot days. Everything for the discriminating buyer. Only two blocks to schools, and a short walk to the station and shopping, make it ideal. You should not buy before you see what this house can offer.

$23,900 COLONIAL

In Mount Prospect's nicest North side area, this true center entrance Colonial has the spacious feeling we all want in a home. It actually is large too. 22' living room with fireplace, separate formal dining room, and immense cabinet kitchen on the first floor. The three bedrooms are all twin sized. There is carpeting, and 1½ baths, of course. The full basement is well arranged for a recreation room, and there is gas heat, and an outside basement entrance as well. This is the quality home that you have wanted, can't we show you through?

$24,000 BRICK RANCH

Another offering on the South side of Arlington. In the heart of the Trude area, this 4 year old home has lots to offer at this price. The living room has a fireplace, the kitchen is large with plenty of eating space, there are three large bedrooms, an all weather porch on the rear, a full basement with gas heat, an attached garage, and it has mature planting all around it. What is best of all is the fact that you can have immediate occupancy on this home.

$25,000 BRICK CAPE COD

This is one of the sharpest homes that we have had the privilege of offering in some time. There are 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths, as well as the separate dining room, and kitchen with eating space. One of the bedrooms is on the first floor, as is one bath, making it one of the most convenient arrangements available. The full basement has gas heat, and a built in refreshment bar for parties. There is a breezeway and an attachd garage. The living room, dining room, stairs and two bedrooms are carpeted, and the draperies in the living room are included. We do not believe there is a thing to be done but move in. Well located on our South side, it is within walking distance of everything in town.

$26,500 BRICK RANCH

Excellently located in our Northwest family community is this 2 year old 3 bedroom home. The birch and Formica kitchen with breakfast room is most attractive. There are 2 baths, carpeting, full basement, Bryant gas heat, attached garage, jalousied porch and other extras. This is a rare opportunity for some family to have a better than new home, at a price that is right.

$26,900 BRICK COLONIAL

In one of Mount Prospect's nicest areas is this 3 bedroom quality feature home. Baseboard hot water heat, fireplaces in the living room and basement recreation room, complete storage wall in the master bedroom, screened porch for outdoor living—these are only a few of the plus features that it will offer the new owner. Of course there is a separate dining room, 1½ baths, attached garage and the other things you have learned to expect in quality homes. We would like you to see all of them too. Call us and we will take you through.

$27,000 RANCH

A corner lot in our best area—a custom built 3 bedroom home with a large jalousied porch and attached garage make a combination that is hard to beat. There are two fireplaces, large picture window, smart kitchen, full basement and gas heat. Professionally landscaped outside and decorated inside it is a show place for the most critical buyer. We offer it to you on good terms as an excellent value.

$31,500 BRICK COLONIAL

4 Master Bedrooms. — Yes, this is one of our mature but not old homes and its immaculate and perfect condition is a credit to its thoughtful owners. This impressive center entrance red brick home with its 30' living room, fireplace and formal dining room is far above average. It has 1½ baths, full basement and the 90' tree shaded lawns are beautiful. Located among other lovely homes only six blocks to shopping and the station. For the large and growing family this is it.

$36,500 BRICK RANCH

A Scarsdale Estates lot and a spacious ranch make an ideal combination. Face brick, only 2 years old, with 3 bedrooms, 1½ ceramic baths with colored fixtures, and a dream kitchen in birch and Formica. It will make your family happy forever. Death Notices

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear wife and mother, Martha Demlow, who passed away June 13, 1952.

It is so lonesome here without you.
So sad and weary the way,
Life has not been the same for us,
Since you were called away.
You did not fail to do your best
Your heart was true and tender.
You worked so hard for all of us
You will always be loved and remembered.

Father, Sisters and Brother.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincerest thanks and appreciation to all our friends and relatives who were ,so kind during our recent bereavement.

Family of the late
John W. Foster

A TRIBUTE

A tribute to a beloved brother: John C. Boeger, born Oct. 7, 1874, at Arlington Heights, Ill., passed away of a heart attack at his home, 27 S. Vail ave., at Arlington Heights, Ill., April 24, aged 79 years, was buried April 26 in St. John's cemetery Arlington Heights, Ill.

He was the organizer of the first Community Band in Arlington Heights, when he was only 19 years old; also was the builder and erected the first part of the present St. Peters Parochial Luheran school which is still in existence today, when he was only a young man.

He had the first radio broadcasting station in his home; he would make the cabinets for the radios and assemble them, as he was a first class cabinet maker.

These are only a few achievements of which he had many, and these told here will stand as monuments to his memory in years to come.

He was married April 13, 1893 to Louise Wasser, who survives him, after 61 years of marriage.

He was a lifelong resident of Arlington Heights, Illinois.

A well-earned tribute from loving sister,
Elfrieda Pohlmann
Genoa, Ill., Rt. 1.
